

Hankow's Fall Near, Japanese Chieftains Say

Expect Mass Bombing Will End Chinese Resistance

TALK OF PEACE

Observers Think Nipponese May Rest on Gains

Shanghai — (AP)—Japanese commanders declared today the fall of Hankow was imminent and said Chinese were in retreat at that war-time capital which has been the military goal of the Japanese invasion.

Mass bombing of the Hankow area to shatter the last Chinese resistance was foreshadowed in a memorandum delivered to envoys of foreign powers at Shanghai, warning foreign shipping to proceed up the Yangtze river at least ten miles above Hankow by midnight tonight.

The United States gunboats Guam and Luzon are among foreign vessels stationed at Hankow.

The memorandum, which also advised foreign shipping to avoid the Canton area in South China, explained that Chinese troops were retreating across the Yangtze at Hankow and said extensive bombing might be necessary.

Advance on Hankow

Japanese forces stabbing at Hankow's outer defenses were pushing nearer to the city every hour.

Fall of Canton—Japanese announced the city was completely occupied—was said to have given impetus to the Central China drive against Hankow and the adjoining cities of Yangtze and Wuchang.

A wholesale Chinese withdrawal was said to be under way from both the Canton area in South China and the Central China Hankow region. Chinese streamed northwest from occupied Canton, with Japanese controlling the area completely both on the ground and in the skies.

In the Yangtze river valley, Chinese troops were reported in retreat from defense positions east of Hankow to the city's environs.

Tied to Leave City

Hankow dispatches told of orders for Chinese officials and their families to leave the city. Fleeing civilians scrambled for places on river boats.

Japanese troops and river boats kept up their steady advance. A mid-afternoon communique announced ground forces had occupied Oehang, on the south bank of the Yangtze 35 miles east of Hankow, and were driving directly west against Wuchang.

Chinese ground forces gained new momentum in the invasion which, since the undeclared war started July 7, 1937, has brought all of China's chief seaports, its major cities, and the rich North China area under nominal Japanese control.

May End Advance

Observers have predicted that Japanese, once the Hankow region was conquered, might rest on their gains, content to defend the occupied territory against possible guerrilla attacks.

This frequently expressed opinion, together with the pace of the Japanese campaign in Central and South China, brought renewed talk of possible peace negotiations.

From Chungking came reports crediting former Premier Wang Ching-wei, chairman of the central political council of the Kuomintang (nationalist party), with having said China might accept peace terms from Japan.

North Carolina Killer Is Facing Execution

Greensboro, N. C. — (AP)—A superior court jury returned a death verdict today for James Godwin, High Point youth, who was charged with fatally shooting Donald Moss, a High Point textile worker, a few hours after he escaped from the Lexington jail Oct. 3 with the aid of the jailer's daughter.

It's a Pudding to Prevent Warring

Wars are caused by furry tongues and indigestion, due to some nations' bad foodstuffs further batched by bungling cooks, Ford Madox told the Gourmets Society. World-peace, he said, can be secured only by world-wide good eating, tastily sauced with spices and garlic and achieved by an international exchange of chefs. Strong but true. After all, one good feed deserves another. Now, if the League of Nations would but use classified want-ads in The Post-Crescent — this one brought an excellent cook.

ACTRESS FALLS TO HER DEATH

Dressed in evening clothes, attractive Dorothy Hale (above), film actress and dabbler in the theater, plunged to her death from her sixteenth floor apartment in the Hampshire house, exclusive hotel overlooking Central park, in New York. She was the widow of Gardner Hale, Chicago artist, and a friend of Harry Hopkins, WPA administrator. Her rumored engagement to Hopkins had been denied.

House Probers Told 'Roving Bands of Men' Forced Stores To Close for 'Labor Holiday'

Washington — (AP)—The Dies committee investigating un-American activities received testimony today that "roving bands of men" went about Lansing, Mich., June 7, 1937, forcing stores to close while a "labor holiday" was in progress.

The testimony was given by Donald W. Gardner, who reported "holiday" developments for the Detroit Times.

Under questioning by Committee Chairman Dies (D-Texas) Gardner said "flying squadrons" drove about Lansing during the June day, visited stores, and closed all business establishments except drug stores and hotels.

Many of the men carried sticks and clubs, Gardner asserted.

"These were the flying squadrons—the shock troops of the United Automobile Workers," he said.

Says Reds Backed Murphy

Another witness before the committee today—John M. Barringer, former city manager of Flint—said he understood the Communist party in Michigan was supporting Governor Frank Murphy. The basis of his information, Barringer said, was newspaper reports.

"Has there been any repudiation of that support?" Dies asked.

"Not to my knowledge," the witness responded.

Murphy's name also figured in Gardner's testimony. The reporter said that during the holiday parade spoke to the downtown crowd, Lieutenant Harold Mulbar of the Michigan state police told the in-

Seek to Increase Milk Consumption

Ammon Confers With Producers and Dairy Workers

Madison — (AP)—Ralph M. Ammon, director of the department of agriculture and markets, met today with representatives of milk producers and dairy workers to discuss means of increasing the consumption of fluid milk.

Ammon said the possibility of a price reduction was considered but declined to elaborate on this statement. He said he did not know whether a departmental recommendation would follow the conference.

The retail price of milk in Milwaukee, Racine and Kenosha is 12 cents a quart, in Madison, 11 cents and in the Fox river valley, 10 cents.

Ammon said the conference, held behind closed doors, agreed the producers and labor "must make a concerted effort to increase consumption of fluid milk in the Milwaukee area." He said he did not feel at liberty to discuss the steps considered, adding that the meeting was held to bring about "good will" among dealers, producers and labor.

Former Milwaukeean Is Killed in Indiana

Indianapolis — (AP)—Frank Robert Sparring, 24, was killed last night as his automobile skidded and overturned against a cement culvert on state road 67 near here.

Formerly of Milwaukee, Sparring attended the University of Chicago and played guard on the football team for three years.

Miss Harriett Quinn, Indianapolis, suffered an ankle injury. She said, "blinding headlights of approaching cars caused the accident."

Pay-Hour Law Is Effective Next Monday

Administration Busy Explaining Demands On Industry

M A P S STANDARDS

Special Exemptions Complicate 3 Chief Provisions

Washington — (AP)—The wage-hour administration rushed work today on last minute explanations of how industry should comply with the most far-reaching attempt to put a floor under wages and a ceiling over hours since the days of the NRA.

Administrator Elmer F. Andrews said he hoped to announce by nightfall the kind of records employers should keep to show conformity with the new law which becomes effective at 12:01 a. m. Monday.

His aides, meanwhile, were preparing a general interpretation of the act.

In an attempt to clarify the public understanding of the measure, Andrews will make a series of radio broadcasts tomorrow afternoon. He said he would attempt to answer as many as possible of the general questions asked by business men in the last few days.

Hundreds of thousands of wage-earners completed today their last week of unregulated employment. When they return to their jobs next Monday morning, a pay rate of 25 cents an hour will have become the legal minimum for all who produce goods going into interstate commerce or whose work, in the words of a recent supreme court decision, places a "burden" upon interstate commerce.

44-Hour Week

Their standard work-week will have been established at 44 hours with the requirement that they be compensated at the rate of time and one-half for each hour of overtime.

It also will have become illegal to employ in mining or manufacturing

Chapple Will File Formal Complaint in Charge Against Heil

Madison — (AP)—John B. Chapple, independent "Townsend Republican" candidate for the United States senate, announced here today he would file a formal complaint with the attorney general Tuesday against Julius P. Heil, Republican nominee for governor.

Chapple has accused Heil of offering him $2,500 to get out of the senatorial race and make 20 speeches in Heil's behalf. He said the complaint would be filed under the corrupt practices act.

Chapple wrote a letter to the attorney general today advising that the petition would be presented. He also said he would offer information for 10 days has suppressed evidence relating to the charges.

Labor Board Appeals From Court Decision Upholding Employer's Right to Fire Sit-Down Strikers

Washington — (AP)—The national labor relations board appealed today to the supreme court from a lower court decision holding that an employer has the right to discharge employees who seize his property in a sit-down strike.

The litigation involves a sit-down strike in the North Chicago plant of the Faststeel Metallurgical corporation which began Feb. 17, 1937.

The federal circuit court of appeals at Chicago ruled against the striking employees.

In its order, the labor board found that the sit-down strike resulted from failure of the company to bargain with employees belonging to the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers of America.

The board's petition filed with the supreme court said the ques-

Homecoming Parade One of Best in Years; Rain Fails To Blight Big Pep Session

The weather man opened his bag of tricks last night and brought out a drizzling rain which dampened the clothing but not the enthusiasm of Lawrence college students who gathered on the bank of the Fox river behind science hall for their annual pep meeting, and torchlight parade on the eve of homecoming.

Along about 7 o'clock the pajama-clad freshmen boys from Brokaw and girls from Ormsby hall garbed in flowing flannel nightgowns gathered on the Lawrence street bridge and began their lock-step march down the steps and around to the river bank, chanting their class mottos, "One-Nine-Four-Two," as they went. Perched on the steep hillside in front of the speakers platform erected for the occasion, the freshmen and their older fellow-students sang, shouted, whistled and were cracked as they waited for the Lawrence pep band to join them for the program.

Occasionally an enthusiastic individual would romp out in front of the assemblage to lead the crowd in a cheer, and Lawrence songs as well as those of indeterminate origin rang out across the river and echoed from the other side.

Band Performs

The arrival of the pep band in uniform gave the crowd renewed vigor, and the youngsters greeted each speaker on the program which followed with a round of applause.

With Bob Leverenz, pep chairman, officiating as master of ceremonies, the program proper got off to a colorful start with the lighting of the huge bonfire at the water's edge. While the flames threw a warm, rosy glow on the faces of the watching students and a number of townspeople, talks were given by Jack Bodilly, homecoming chairman, President Thomas N. Barrows and F. N. Belanger who expressed the good will of the townspeople and Appleton Chamber of Commerce.

Man, 65, Struck by Hit-Run Motorist, Dies of Injuries

Markius Hopkins, Dale, Was Injured on Highway 10 Wednesday

Markius L. Hopkins, 65, Dale, who was struck down by a hit-and-run driver on Highway 10, a mile and a half west of Dale, Tuesday evening, died about 7:30 last night. He was dragged about 75 feet by the machine and his body was badly mangled.

Dr. H. E. Ellsworth, county coroner, called a coroner's jury which viewed the body this morning as county authorities continued to check on some meager clues. Members of the jury are Lee Hanselman, H. M. Rouse, Myron Steffen, Birdell Nelson, Art Haase, and Winfred Price, all of Dale.

Norman, 8-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. William Last, route 4, Appleton, suffered a broken leg about 4:10 yesterday in an accident involving a car driven by Anton Van Thull, Kimberly. The youth stepped off a bus on Newberry street at the city limits and was crossing the road when the accident occurred, according to police. He was taken to St. Elizabeth hospital.

A highway sign was broken by a car driven by Robert Berg, 1114 N. Oneida street, at Memorial drive and College avenue about 12:45 this morning. The accident occurred when another occupant of the car took hold of the steering wheel, according to police.

The fatal accident brings the number of persons killed in auto accidents in the county this year to 12.

Former Postmaster

Hopkins was born in Dale Nov. 17, 1873. He was postmaster and mail carrier in that village for 24 years, retiring six years ago. He was a member of the Reformed church of Dale.

Survivors are the wife, two sons, Merrill Appleton, and Everett, Green Bay; three brothers, Grant, Seattle; Guy, Medina; and George, Neenah; three sisters, Mrs. Alice Wilford, Hammond, Wis.; Albert Bartknecht, Mrs. Fred Bartknecht, Appleton; one grandchild.

Funeral services will be held at 1:45 Monday afternoon at Wickmann Funeral home and at 2:30 at the Reformed church in Dale, with the Rev. V. Grosshuesch in charge. Burial will be in the Pine Grove cemetery. The body will be at the funeral home from Sunday noon to the hour of services.

Find Five Members of Family Dead in Flat

Jersey City, N. J. — (AP)—Five members of one family were found dead in their five-room flat today, Deputy Police Chief John J. Underwood said they died of lack of oxygen.

Underwood said Frank Corzi, 31, and two daughters were found in one bedroom, and Nancy, 27, his wife, and another daughter were found in an adjoining bedroom. The children were aged 8, 9 and 3.

Underwood said ambulance physicians explained that the family died because a gas heater under a kitchen water boiler and two electric heaters in the flat had used up all the oxygen.

The conference late today will bring together leaders of the CIO union which called the strike and company officials.

It will be their first attempt to arbitrate the matter since Gov. Nelson G. Kruschee Thursday ordered the two parties to get together and iron out what he termed "minor differences" which have kept the plant closed since Sept. 29.

The strike began when CIO union leaders charged, the company declined to meet a union grievance committee.

Meanwhile, national guardsmen continued to patrol the plant and grounds.

Citizens' League Still Seeking Investigation

Fond du Lac — (AP)—The Fond du Lac County Citizens' League, re-fused funds for a grand jury investigation by the county board, sought legal advice today concerning its next move.

Members said it appeared the circuit judge may call a grand jury in the face of the adverse county board action. Judge Clayton Van Pelt would be urged again to proceed. He refused once unless the board should provide funds.

Messenger Boys Vote Strike if Pay Is Cut

New York — (AP)—Organized telegraph messenger boys countered with a strike threat today the request of their employers for exemption from a 25 cents an hour minimum of the federal wage-hour bill effective Monday.

Application of Western Union and Postal Telegraph companies for exemption from advertisement by Dr. William Leiserson, department of labor mediator, at the conclusion of the hearing last night.

The strike possibility was raised by Joseph P. Selby, vice president of the American Communications association, a union claiming to represent the messengers. He said 80 per cent had voted to strike if the employers went through with a proposed wage reduction.

12 Hungarians Killed In Clash With Czechs

Prague — (AP)—The general staff reported today the killing of 12 Hungarian terrorists and one Czech commando during fighting near Berehovo in southern Slovakia.

It declared Czechoslovak troops captured a number of other armed Hungarian terrorists, seized their arms and ammunition, and surrounded eight persons who made up the remainder of a band operating around Hunyadi, near Berehovo.

In a communique it also reported that terrorists firing from ambush had wounded two Czech gendarmes at Berehoveska, in the district of Slavava.

Gendarmes officials were ordered in pursuit of the attackers, one of whom was wounded fatally and three of whom were captured.

Hungarian patrols which were reported to have tried to mine a bridge near Svity were said to have been dispersed on the approach of Czechoslovak soldiers.

Sikora Acquitted In Fatal Shooting Of Wife's Lover

Jury Foreman Thinks Slaying Will 'Protect Sanctity of Home'

Chicago—(AP)—A jury of 11 husbands and a bachelor decided Rudolph Sikora, the "perfect husband," was justified in killing the man who stole his young wife's affections.

They acquitted the 31-year-old defendant last night after deliberating less than two hours. They took only one ballot.

Russell F. Hornburg, 35, jury foreman, apparently voiced the sentiments of his fellow jurors when he declared:

"We felt that he acted in a way that should protect the sanctity of the American home."

Edward Solomon, 35, the bachelor lover of Mrs. Margaret Sikora, was shot to death on a street corner last Aug. 22.

The jury's decision was acclaimed by a wildly cheering courtroom throng. Spectators most of them women, screamed their delight and swarmed around the slender defendant.

"I feel swell," exclaimed Sikora. "I expected that verdict."

He commented the pretty brunette. "The jury heard the evidence. They were the deciding factors."

Her mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Boehme, burst into joyful tears. She had hoped her daughter in the dramatic trial by pleading the cause of her son-in-law.

The four-day trial was one of the swiftest in Chicago's annals. It also was the first major criminal trial in the city's history in which a wife testified against her husband.

The jury had four possible verdicts—death, life imprisonment, a minimum sentence of 14 years, and not guilty. Manslaughter and insanity verdicts were ruled out by mutual consent of counsel although the defense was based on the "emotional insanity" of the defendant at the time of the slaying.

Sikora testified that his three years of marital bliss were shattered by his wife's clandestine romance with Solomon, her fellow office worker. He described his vain efforts to effect a reconciliation, and how he sought out Solomon the day of the killing to put a stop to the affair. But to all questions about the actual shooting he replied "I don't know or I can't remember."

Only shortly before the slaying, he testified, his wife called him a "perfect husband" although she had renounced his love.

Sikora's attorney said in final arguments, had the right to protect his home "against the inroads of a hypocritical seducer."

The prosecutor said:

"If your wife leaves you, the legal remedy is divorce, gentlemen."

Insurance Editor Speaks at Meeting

80 Valley Underwriters And Wives Hear Paul Speicher

Paul Speicher, Indianapolis, managing editor of the Research and Review Service, talked on the place of the life insurance man in the family structure at a meeting of the Fox River Valley Association of Underwriters last night at River-view Country club. Eighty members of the club and their wives attended.

Dwight Tease, Wisconsin Rapids, gave a humorous talk at the meeting, the first to be held in Appleton. George Nixon, Appleton, president of the association, presided.

Sikora reported today that officers voted in a meeting preceding the general gathering to sponsor a study group for valley underwriters this fall and winter.

Thirty registrations already have been received and it is expected the class will number more than 50. Nixon said. Sessions will be held weekly in vocational schools in Appleton, Neenah-Menasha, and Oshkosh, and are planned to extend the course of study over into the early months of 1939.

Two underwriters will lecture on phases of the study at each meeting.

Mrs. Honeycutt Is Named as Slayer Of Illinois Farmer

Defendant Accused of Writing Note Expressing Fear of 'Chair'

Fairfield, Ill.—(AP)—The state, having presented its strongest links of evidence, moved toward completion of its case today in the trial of two Tennessee housewives, charged with slaying Felix Shannon, wealthy 58-year-old Mount Erie, Ill., farmer.

A letter which the prosecution claimed was written by Mrs. Beulah Honeycutt, 25-year-old buxom blonde, to Mrs. Jean Brooks expressing her fear of "the chair" and containing a plea not to "tell" was admitted in evidence late yesterday.

Earlier the jurors had heard Carlyle Shannon, 8-year-old son of the slain farmer, identify the two women as the kidnappers his father picked up the day before he was shot to death.

"You are the only one who knows I shot him," the letter to Mrs. Brooks read. "If you tell I'll get the chair in spite of hell."

Sheriff Ernest Burkett testified the letter was passed Sept. 16 from Mrs. Honeycutt to Mrs. Brooks by means of a string which Mrs. Brooks lowered from her second floor cell to the author's directly below.

Other Letters Offered
After ruling the letter admissible, Circuit Judge W. Joe Hill allowed State's Attorney C. W. Creighton to introduce a letter written by Mrs. Honeycutt to her parents in Carter, Tenn., and another 11-page letter from Mrs. Brooks to Mrs. Honeycutt while the latter was held in the Edwards county jail at Albion. Mrs. Honeycutt lived in Johnston City, Tenn., and Mrs. Brooks' home is in Elizabethton, Tenn.

Mrs. Honeycutt's letter to her 23-year-old companion, admitted as evidence against both, read:

"Jean, did they ever ask you if the old man was asleep. We better say no. They asked me how come his hand all scratched up. We better say the last thing we remember was carrying the gun around in his hand walking through the floor. We better be thinking up a lot and saying nothing."

Afraid of Chair
"Don't matter what happens, let's don't take the stand for it's going to be pitiful. You are the only one who knows I shot him. If you tell I'll get the chair in spite of hell. Don't tell them nothing else. Don't talk to Mr. Creighton anymore either. Be careful what you say. They listen to every word."

The letter was signed "Bill," which Sheriff Burkett said was Mrs. Honeycutt's nickname.

In a letter to her parents, Mrs. Honeycutt told of being held in the Albion jail and said her girl friend was "trying to blame it all on me."

"We both shot the old man with his own gun," it read.

Mrs. Brooks, in her long letter to Mrs. Honeycutt, told of being "nervous as a race horse" and pleaded with her co-defendant to "tell the truth."

"I have told them the truth—God knows that—where you are not," it said. "And you know as well you know you are living that you fired the two shots that killed and then handed me the gun to shoot it once."

Phil Asserts Changes Save $100,000 Yearly

Green Bay—(AP)—The reorganizational session of 1937 paved the way for increased and more economical public service, Governor Philip LaFollette said last night in his campaign for reelection.

"Under our democratic method of reorganization," the governor said, "we have completed 40 needed changes in our state administrative machinery, changes which unbalanced, excessive administration agree have been long overdue."

"We have provided checks and safeguards for every step we have taken. Every one of the changes first had to have the approval of a committee of legislators representing all three political parties and the constitutional officers of Wisconsin."

Consolidations of the inspection service LaFollette stated, are saving $100,000 annually.

Thirty-three infants and one special case of a child of pre-school age were given free examinations at the monthly child health clinic held here Thursday, under the sponsorship of the Clintonville Women's club. Dr. Mary Allen, state physician of the Wisconsin Board of Health, was assisted at the clinic by Miss Estelle Jung, Waupaca county nurse. Members of the Woman's club who assisted were Mrs. Russell Rill and Mrs. A. V. Chamberlain in the forenoon; Mrs. A. G. Bohr and Mrs. Ward Winchester in the afternoon. Another health clinic will be held Nov. 29 at Clintonville.

The Thrift club was entertained Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. V. C. Mack. Three tables of cards were followed by a luncheon. First went to Mrs. William Below, Fritz; Mrs. Bernard Knapp, second, and Mrs. Henry Smith, travel. Mrs. Henry Hedtke will be hostess to the club at its November meeting.

Methodist Ladies Guild met Thursday afternoon at the church parlors, with Mrs. Robert C. Geffs and Mrs. Howard Bove as the hostesses. Plans were made to serve a supper for the Methodist Men's club at the church dining room Nov. 1. Mrs. Albert Fritz was appointed chairman of the kitchen committee and Mrs. M. O. Stockland will head the dining room committee.

The Methodist Ladies Aid society has been divided into three circles, which will meet at the homes of members once a month. The entire society also holds a meeting once a month at the church parlors. On Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27, the outside circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry W. Antnes, 206 S. Main street; the central circle will be entertained by Mrs. John Meinhardt at her home, 41 Torrey street; and the northside circle will meet at the home of Mrs. Ira Snider, 145 N. Main street.

Material Supply for WPA Project Reduced

The supply of clothing material shipped here by the government surplus commodities corporation recently has been cut, according to F. A. W. Hammond, city relief director. About 10,407 yards of material were shipped here, and now about 6,000 yards have been transferred to other points in the state. The remaining material is being made over into clothes by women employed on the WPA sewing project.

Begin Fall Cleaning At Department Barns

Fall house cleaning has been started at the street department building and all unused material and machinery will be cleared from the building, according to Alfred Wickesberg, city engineer. Six 2-wheeled scrapers and several old wagons are for sale. Wickesberg said.

Lions Club to Inspect A. A. L. Office Devices

The Appleton Lions club will adjourn to the Aid Association for Lutherans building following its luncheon Monday noon in the Conway hotel. Automatic office equipment will be inspected.

Donaldson cottage, Clover Leaf lakes. A 6:30 dinner was followed by cards and dancing.

During a brief business session held that evening, women of Riverside golf club elected Mrs. A. G. Bohr, president, and Mrs. W. T. Lucke, secretary, for the 1939 season. They will succeed Mrs. Kenneth Spearbraker and Mrs. Donald Oien, who served in those offices during the season just closed.

Mr. and Mrs. Donaldson invited the golf club to a Halloween party at their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Russell are spending the weekend at Milwaukee and Chicago.

Mrs. Ethel Larson left Friday for Chicago to spend a few days with her son, Keith Larson, a student at Northwestern university.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Merrill returned home Friday evening from Washington, D. C. where they had visited for a week with Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Wagner, formerly of this city.

Mrs. Frank Kohl has gone to Chicago to visit her daughter, Miss June Kohl, until Tuesday. The latter is a student nurse at a Chicago hospital.

LaFollette Says More About Money and Less About Political Philosophy in Campaign Talks

This is the first of three articles describing the major campaign tactics of candidates for governor, prepared by John W. Wyngaard, the Appleton Post-Crescent's Madison correspondent, who is accompanying the candidates on their speaking tours.

BY JOHN W. WYNGAARD
Rhinelander—It takes a heap of talkin' and a heap of workin' to be elected governor of Wisconsin.

That is the most obvious fact to be picked up by anyone who watches Wisconsin's chief executive for as few as 24 hours in his current campaign.

Governor Phil LaFollette, midway in his effort to persuade the voters of the state that he and his party deserve another turn at running the state government, and that he himself should be elected to the highest state office for the fourth time, arrived in Wisconsin's northland in fine fettle, with his voice husky after three and a half weeks of steady speech-making, his hands toughened after grasping those of innumerable admirers and followers, his manner confident, and his energy seemingly inexhaustible.

Facing Toughest Part
Behind him the diminutive 41 year old governor has 8,000 miles of auto travel, almost 100 speeches to almost 100,000 people. Before him he has the toughest part of his biennial task, traversing the more populous, and more conservative, counties of southern and eastern Wisconsin and the Fox river valley.

Daily for almost a month, LaFollette has made always four, sometimes five speeches a day. But that tells only half of the story so far: in addition there have been the hotel room conferences, the hand shaking and reminiscing with the acquaintances and the local aides of his four previous campaigns, and the many who voted for and supported his famous father. Then there are the banquets, the local party troubles to arbitrate, and, not to be forgotten, the necessary duties of the governor's office, jobs brought him several times a week by special courier from Madison.

But—and this is significant—he is enjoying the campaign, from all outward signs. His hair is grayer than it was two years ago, his voice hoarser. He no longer looks like a boy on the stump. He is a mature politician fighting for prize which no other politician in all of Wisconsin's long and checkered political history has asked for or received. He is the brain-baron, the leader, and the inspiring, dominating personality of a political movement which is supremely confident of a national, rather than a provincial destiny. And he is confident.

Not Expressed Publicly
But that confidence is not expressed publicly. He will not predict for publication a Progressive victory. To all about him he is fighting, as the LaFollettes have always fought, against the "reactionaries," entrenched "privilege," for the "common man."

Practically, however, LaFollette like most of the other Progressives who know their way around, realizes that the battle of the party in lower Wisconsin this year is not against another party, nor against another candidate or candidates, but against a trend, a trend against the "ins," which inevitably favors the "outs." That means, according to the Progressive way of looking at things just now, a battle against the Republican party as led by Julius P. Heil, the Milwaukee manufacturer running for governor, and Alexander Wiley, Chippewa Falls, senate nominee of the G. O. P.

Dewey Friendly to Foes in Campaign Talk in New York

Republican Sounds New Note in Politics This Week

Washington—(AP)—A new note in politics, sounded by a newcomer to the craft, made the New York state campaign easily audible this week in the midst of a national tumult raised by old timers.

Thomas E. Dewey, the young Republican candidate for governor, went to Rochester and said nice things about his Democratic opponent, Governor Herbert H. Lehman, and about some things the Democratic national administration has done.

The last six years, Dewey said, had seen "sincere efforts to solve problems too long neglected." He added "where these objectives have been lost or obscured by party politics or personal hatreds, we should strive to clear the way."

The speech differed in many respects from speeches that were being made by nationally known Republicans in widely scattered sections of the country during the week.

A day or so after Dewey spoke at Rochester Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York city journeyed to the Hudson to chat with President Roosevelt at Hyde Park. He followed in the path of Governor Lehman, Dewey's opponent.

After his visit, Lehman did not tell newspaper reporters directly he would make support of the national administration a dominant issue in his campaign. When La Guardia emerged from his talk with the president, he indicated he would withhold support of Lehman until the governor said he was firmly back of the New Deal.

Johns Blames Trade Treaties for Most Of U. S. Troubles

Joshua L. Johns, candidate for congress on the Republican ticket, blamed reciprocal trade treaties with foreign nations for most of our troubles in a campaign talk at Kimberly Thursday night.

Johns said that "while some 13 millions of Americans are unemployed or working at part time jobs, competitive articles produced by workers in foreign countries supply from 30 to 40 per cent of the markets in Philadelphia, Boston, New York, New Orleans, Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle."

Many of the articles should be manufactured in the United States and should be sold here, he said.

The speaker said if he was elected he would support legislation that would give power to the secretary of the treasury to collect the excise tax on goods entering the United States and that the levy would be sufficient to make up the difference in prices.

'Y' Board to Attend Green Bay Meeting

A group of members of the Appleton Y. M. C. A. board of directors will meet with 'Y' boards from Green Bay, Wausau, and Fond du Lac at Green Bay today. The meeting will open at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

T. E. Orblison, president of the Appleton Y. M. C. A., will speak on activities of the association. Dr. H. F. Lewis will preside at a discussion on "The Place and Work of the Layman in the Y. M. C. A. Program."

Other Appleton men who will attend are William Gallaher and William E. Schubert, board members, Homer Gebhardt, secretary, and C. C. Bailey, boys director.

Critics may differ with his presentation of state government statistics may grow red in the face over his interpretation of those statistics, but if the size of the crowds may be taken as a criterion, a lot of people in Wisconsin like it.

Homecoming Will Close With Dance At School Tonight

Hundreds on Streets as Annual Parade Is Held; Game Today

Kaukauna—A dancing party beginning at 8:30 tonight will climax Kaukauna high schools' homecoming celebration that began last night with a parade and pep session. The alumni association is sponsoring tonight's dance, with high school orchestra to play. Dancing will last until 12 o'clock, with a floor show to come on at 10:30. Refreshments will be served.

Last night a little rain failed to keep hundreds off the streets as the annual parade was held. The crowds followed the parade through the north and south sides and ended near the ball park with a rousing pep session for this afternoon's football game with Shawano. Some 300 then attended a dance at the high school.

Prize Winners

During the dance prize winners for the best floats in the parade were announced. Robert George and Glen Ball received the prizes for the two best costumes; the Green Road Artists for the smallest float; the Industrial Arts classes for the most original float; the sophomore class for the most colorful; the senior class for the most attractive; the junior high classes received a prize for having the most students behind their float.

In the general competition the senior class won the first prize, followed by the Future Farmers of America and the Camera club.

Rural Normal School Students Edit Paper

Kaukauna—The Outrune, Outagamie Rural Normal school student newspaper, came out this afternoon, with Harrison Larson, Appleton, Russell Coe, Shiocton, and Walter Brandt, Shawano, on the staff.

Letters will be mailed soon, the paper said, to county grade schools instructing them on the bird feeding project to be carried out this winter by the Conservation club. Feeding of birds will begin on Dec. 1, with each county school to keep records of the varieties of birds which are observed. Prizes will be given at the contest's close March 1 to the schools with the most complete set of records.

The Conservation club met Tuesday afternoon. Florian McCabe, West De Pere, and Jeanette Ort were in charge.

Dorothy Kuehl Named Head of Courtesy Club

Kaukauna—Dorothy Kuehl was named president of the Courtesy club of Park school at a meeting this week, with Betty Hawley named first vice president, Anita Hennings second vice president, Arlene Wurdinger third vice president, Doris Nagel fourth vice president, June Streich, secretary, and Claire Hilgenberg treasurer.

The club elects officers every four weeks. Each vice president arranges a program for one of the meetings, in the order of a hobby program, a literature program, a nature program and a miscellaneous presentation. Only seventh and eighth grade students may join.

The Kaukauna office of the Appleton Post-Crescent is located in the Jules Mertens barbershop on Wisconsin avenue. William Dowling is the correspondent in charge and the telephone number is 107. Subscribers may call this number until 6:30 in the evening if their papers were not delivered.

"No wonder you lost your voice. I told you not to cheer for BOTH teams!"

Kaukauna Girl Scouts to Hold Halloween Party at Legion Hall

Kaukauna—Kaukauna girl scouts will hold a Halloween party at their next meeting Wednesday evening at Legion hall. The Eagle patrol will be in charge. It will be a costume affair.

The scouts passed tests at this week's meeting, with Rosalie Van de Loo, Audrey Specht and Laura De Laat passing promise, motto and laws; Lois Berg, Louise Berg, Joyce Wolf, Anna Mae Smith, thrift; Evangeline Mayer, Mary Banning, flag; Patsy Greenwood, Mary Banning, pet story; Romona Mangold, Janet Helf, Lucy Kuehl, Dorothy Kuehl, in case of fire; Anna Mae Smith, five points of health, and Dorothy Plotz, nature study.

Dolores Derricks was elected leader and Mary Alice Flanagan assistant leader of the Ace patrol.

Paul Cramp, Milwaukee, department commander, and Armin B. Scheurle, Appleton, senior district commander, will speak Tuesday evening as Veterans of Foreign Wars entertain their auxiliary and friends at a dinner and program at Legion hall. Ed Ives is general chairman of arrangements, assisted by William Warnecke, John Garlich, M. J. Verfurth, Charles Clune and Arthur Kromer.

Kaukauna Knights of Columbus will meet at 8 o'clock Monday evening in the Wisconsin avenue clubrooms. Boy scouts of Troop 31 will present an investiture ceremony. Cards will be played and lunch served.

A regular meeting of Royal Arch Masons will be held Monday evening at Masonic hall. Routine business will be transacted.

Student Journalists Leave for Convention

Kaukauna—A group of Kaukauna high school students and teachers left this morning for Madison to attend the annual Journalism convention there sponsored by the University of Wisconsin. Those who went were Paul Akers and Clifford Kalista, co-editors of the annual; Mary Alice Flanagan and Kenneth Busse, representing the Kaukauna News; James Lang and Miss Frances Corry, faculty advisers, accompanied the students.

WPA Crew Completes Oviatt Street Work

Kaukauna—With the completion of grading work on Oviatt street, the WPA curbing and sidewalk project on that street is finished, according to North Road Chairman Jule Mertens. Three days work remains on the upper end of Desnoyer street, after which the crew will move to the Holy Cross school, Monument square, and Methodist church projects. Completion of all this work is planned by Nov. 8, Mertens said.

Grogan Will Speak at Black Creek Meeting

Kaukauna—Robert Grogan, Outagamie Democratic committee vice chairman, will speak at a meeting in Black Creek auditorium Monday evening. The meeting is a family affair for residents of that vicinity, with various entertainment provided.

Fifth Grade Students Form Missionary Club

Kaukauna—Fifth grade students of Holy Cross school have formed a Missionary club and are planning a Halloween costume party for Thursday, at the home of Joan Leddy. Directors of the club are Sally McMorro, Joan Leddy and Dolores Van Lanen.

Holy Cross Gridders Defeat Chilton Team

Kaukauna—Holy Cross football team won its fifth victory in six starts by defeating Chilton, 20 to 6, at Holy Cross Thursday afternoon. The winners scored twice in the first half, with Chilton finally pushing over its score against a substitute lineup.

Kaukauna V. F. W. Will Hold Special Muster

Kaukauna—Veterans of Foreign Wars will hold a special muster 2:15 Sunday afternoon at Legion hall. It was announced this morning, important matters will be decided before the group for discussion.

Services Conducted For Mrs. Henry Sturm

Manawa—Funeral services for Mrs. Henry Sturm, pioneer resident of the town of Little Wolf, were conducted from St. Paul's Evangelical Lutheran church here Thursday afternoon by the Rev. R. A. Karpinsky. Burial took place in the Manawa cemetery.

Mrs. Sturm, the former Martha Beckman, died at the farm home.

Lions Will Fete District Chiefs

Former International President to Speak At Banquet

Kaukauna—Arrangements for the district governors' party at Rainbow Gardens Tuesday evening are now being completed by committees of the Kaukauna Lions club. The month of October has been set aside by Wisconsin clubs as district governor month, and all Wisconsin groups are co-operating with the Kaukauna club in putting on the party.

Frank V. Birch, Milwaukee, immediate past president of Lions International, who was honored by the Kaukauna Lions at a dinner last Nov. 23, will be the main speaker Tuesday. Each of the district governors also will address the group.

District governors who have accepted invitations are A. U. Stearns, Sturgeon Bay, A. W. Gerhardt, Wausau, and Dr. Harry J. Matson, Milwaukee. Francis J. Flanagan, Chilton deputy district governor, will be the toastmaster, with Harry Pandoro of Milwaukee toastmaster.

Mike Klein and J. W. Weyenberg are co-chairmen of the Kaukauna ticket committee. C. P. Goetzman, secretary, is general ticket chairman. Attendance at the affair is expected to equal the 500 at the Birch dinner last year.

Merchants Eleven To Meet Manitowoc City Squad Sunday

Kaukauna—Kaukauna fans will get their second look at the city football team tomorrow afternoon when the strong Manitowoc eleven comes to the high school field for a game. The kickoff is slated for 2 o'clock. In its only other home appearance, the Kaukauna team beat West De Pere, 6 to 0, two weeks ago.

Since then the boys have taken a couple on the chin but have added replacements to the squad and are confident of making a good showing the rest of the way in. The starting lineup will have Eiting, Coenen, Mooney, Plutz, Bloch, Deery and Niesz in the line, with Mathis, Egan, Kalupa and Derus in the backfield.

Oct. 29 Deadline for Voter Registration

Kaukauna—October 29 is the last day on which electors may register for the general election of Nov. 8. City Clerk Lester J. Brenzel said yesterday. Those who must register include those who will be 21 years old on or before election day, new residents not previously registered and persons who have changed their addresses.

Goetzman, secretary, is general ticket chairman. Attendance at the affair is expected to equal the 500 at the Birch dinner last year.

Engineer Draws Plans for Sewer

Strasburg Project Will be Submitted to Works Board

Kaukauna—Specifications for the Strasburg sewer project are being drawn by Frank M. Charlesworth, city engineer, and will be submitted soon to the board of public works for approval.

The council has approved a recommendation of the board that the sewer project be started. The streets affected were listed at a meeting of the board Jan. 31, at which time of eleven property owners who appeared only three opposed the plans. Charlesworth will calculate the money cost to each property owner in preparation for assessment hearings.

The streets to be laid with sewers are listed in the report as "commencing at the intersection of Lawe street and Plank road; thence westerly on Plank road to Florence street; thence northerly on Florence street from Plank road to Claribel street; on the Green Bay road from Plank road northeasterly to the city limits; on Garfield street from the Green Bay road north-

Here's What Happens When You Send to the Badger Pantorium for Perfect CLEANING Service

A COMPLETE PICTURE STORY SHOWING OUR MODERN CLEANING TECHNIQUE IN ACTION!

Follow your clothes on a trip through Appleton's most modern and efficient cleaning plant. See exactly what processes they undergo! Every garment sent to us is treated exactly as described!

NO. 1 THE Pick-Up

A courteous driver picks up your clothing, transports it quickly to our plant. There it's inspected for possible defects, missing buttons, etc., and also spots that require special attention... thereby guarding against "tannin" stains in a later process.

NO. 2 THE Cleaning

Your garment is put into our washers together with other similar ones. The special dry solvent contains no moisture or water but is combined with a dry cleaning soap of the highest quality. The washer turns gently until the clothes are perfectly clean.

NO. 3 THE Extractor

After coming from the washer, your garment and its companions are put into the extractor. This whirls the garments around — without straining them—and ejects most of the cleaning liquid by centrifugal force. All garments of like materials are put into this together.

NO. 4 THE Dry-Room

Unless your garment is a particular kind of wool, silk or synthetic fabric, it's put into a tumbler for further drying and then into the drying room. This room is scientifically warmed to quickly dry your garment without actually heating it.

NO. 5 THE Spotter

When your garment comes from the drying room, it's given another thorough inspection. If there are any spots that the first inspectors missed, the garment is turned over to the "spotter," the most highly skilled employee in our plant. He removes the stains carefully!

NO. 6 THE Finish

From the spotter or the drying room, your garment is sent to the finishing department. Here, skilled hand finishers and efficient machines combine to make your garment look like new. The original shape of a suit or dress is carefully retained. The pressing is perfect.

NO. 7 THE Check-Up

After the garment is completely clean and finished it's examined once again for size, shape and appearance. It's the last step in a long and careful process that produces outstanding work. Last, every minute your garment is in our hands, it's covered by insurance!

You Can See Why Badger Cleaning Is Better!

It's these seven steps... performed by skilled workmen... aided by scientific methods that enable us to do the type of work that has made the Badger Pantorium the leading cleaner in the Fox River Valley.

RUGS Cleaned

Our method of rug cleaning is fully as thorough and careful as our garment cleaning process. Have your rugs cleaned the safe, gentle way which renews luster, revives color and raises the pile. Rugs are cleaned all the way through by the Badger method. The cost is reasonable.

HATS CLEANED and BLOCKED

We use latest factory methods in our hat cleaning department. Your hat will look and feel like new after we clean it.

Audience of 600 Applauds Annual School Operetta

Elaborate Costumes Add To Effectiveness of Student Show

New London—About 600 adults, parents and school children applauded the McKinley school pupils in their annual operetta, "The Princess Has a Birthday," at the Washington high school auditorium last night.

The operetta was one of the most colorful of recent years, with the lavish costumes set off to advantage by the new stage backdrop of a woodland scene. It was the first use of the backdrop in a public production, the scene replacing the usual drapes.

Bright spots in the show were the professional-like performance of Barbara Meinhardt and Sally Ann Estlund, the court jesters, in a song and dance number, and the precise, military drill of the gayly uniformed palace guards. The court jesters were particularly attractive in smart black and white, half-and-half tights and capes.

Variety in Dress

Mothers spent lots of work on the varied costumes of the many groups. The little tots as notes appeared in abbreviated suits, alternately solid black and white, with the musical symbols on the front. Fairies wore flimsy white dance costumes and the little pixies were clad in plain drab brown, as children of the woods. Gypsies wore the traditional color of the tribes and courtiers appeared in varied aristocratic dress. The rhythm band was trim in suits, capes and headgear.

Directing the children were the McKinley school teachers, Luella Anderson, Jessie Mottrill, Genevieve Smith, Doris Jensen, Marie Hankey, and Principal Earl Hanson, with all musical work supervised and correlated by Miss Mary K. Donohue.

High school Thespians, Harry Herres, Howard Fox and Warren Spurr handled the stage work.

The Washington High school orchestra under M. S. Zahrt provided music before the show.

Boileau Favors Higher Pensions

Congressman Advocates Plan for $50 to $60 Each Month

New London — A workable old age pension plan providing $50 to $60 per month to every unemployed person over 60 years of age was strongly advocated by Congressman Gerald Boileau of Stevens Point, Progressive candidate for reelection, in a talk before approximately 75 persons at Labor hall last evening.

The plan would be a practical one, he said, financed by a 2 per cent gross income tax. The congressman denounced the Townsend plan as too extravagant and likewise plans suggesting $15 per month as inadequate.

The speaker pointed out that the Progressives under Phillip LaFollette were the first to inaugurate compulsory old age pension laws and that Wisconsin has set the example ahead of all the other states. However, the plan needs further development and should get the support of the federal government, he said.

Boileau also spoke on agricultural problems and strongly urged the enactment of the Cost of Production bill to aid the farmers.

Clothing Stolen at Cleaners Recovered

New London — Clothing taken from the City Dry Cleaning establishment here last Sunday night was found in an old burlap bag on Oshkosh street near the city ball park late Thursday.

According to the dry cleaners some children found the bag at the side of the street and their parents turned the establishment. All the missing pieces, including four trousers, 17 neckties and a sweater, were recovered unharmed.

Frank Vetter Is Given Permit to Build Home

New London — A building permit to erect a new $2,000 home on Jennings heights was granted yesterday to Frank Vetter, 318 E. Beacon avenue, by Victor Thomas, city building inspector. The new residence will be a 1½-story frame structure. Vetter expects to break ground for the new home soon.

Work on the new stairs and porch of the Freeman building on P. Pearl street was completed today and razing of the old frame structure over the Wolf river was well under way to make room for the new bridge.

New London Office

News and Circulation departments of the Appleton Post-Crescent are represented in New London by Alvin J. Brault, 103 E. Cook street. News items and orders for subscriptions may be left at that address or may be telephoned by calling 18. Papers missed by carriers will be delivered if complaint is made before 7 p. m.

Georgia Guests are Visiting at Home Of Charles Abrams

New London — Two distant visitors arrived in New London this week to spend several weeks with relatives here.

Mrs. Kenneth Hecker and daughter Nancy Ann, of Marietta, Ga., are visiting at the home of Mrs. Hecker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Abrams.

Visiting at the E. C. Jost home is Mrs. Jost's sister, Mrs. W. E. Hanford from Virginia, Minn. Mr. and Mrs. Jost were at Sheboygan Thursday to attend the funeral of Mr. Jost's sister-in-law, Mrs. Otto Jost.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle McCully left Thursday to visit relatives in Minnesota. They expect to return Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Zaug returned last night from a week's visit at Chicago.

Dr. D. V. Meiklejohn, Fond du Lac, was a caller at the home of Mrs. J. C. Freeman yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Surprise, formerly of 624 W. Beacon avenue, moved this week to the former Macklin residence at 439 E. Hancock street.

Three persons underwent operations at Community hospital yesterday: Kathryn, 8-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Lowell, 816 S. Pearl street; Miss Lillie Deak, Clintonville; Helen, 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August Schmoll, route 2, Manawa.

New London — Al Handschke in the Men's club league paced the pin games at Prah's alleys last night with a 216 game and series total of 558. Rolling for Boeses, the team lost the second game to Meslike by one pin, 746 to 747, and then gave up the third 801 to 734 to give the winners first place.

Sawalls cut down Lippolds lead with two victories, Lewis Sawall leading his squad with 505 and 191.

Standings: Plywood League

Hank's Dodgers	W. L.
Ed's Reds	14 4
Kroll's Bees	12 6
Krueger's Giants	7 11
Frank's Cubs	7 11
Zau's Pirates	5 13

All the victors made clean sweeps of three victories in the Plywood league last night, Ed's Reds cutting into the Dodgers for three games on the North Side alleys, and Kroll's Bees and Frank's Cubs taking the Pirates and Giants, respectively, on the South side.

Ed's Reds on the North side topped the scores by pounding out a 534 total and 201 games for the Dodgers. Maurice McDermott cracked a 513 series, and Wallace Shirland hit a 200 game for the Bees. Roy Sawall led the Cubs in their assault on the maples with a 202 game.

Four Hostesses at Party in Honor of Mrs. Edward Hetzer

New London—Mrs. Wilmer Schlarfer and the Misses Eileen Scanlon, Marie Hein and Marjorie Zaug entertained at the F. L. Zaug home last evening in honor of Mrs. Edward Hetzer. Five tables of bridge were played and prizes were won by Mrs. Charles Abrams, Mrs. Chris Magalassen and Miss Ruth Mauel, Waupaca.

Out-of-town guests from Waupaca were Miss Mauel, Miss Dorothy Wendlandt and Mrs. Eugene Hanson. Other guests were Mrs. Kenneth Kecker, Marietta, Ga.; Mrs. Frank Hetzer, Mrs. Lester O'Neil, Mrs. Leonard Happ, Mrs. Elmer Gross, Mrs. William Wudtke, Miss Marguerite Scanlon, Miss Eileen Krause, Miss Dorothy Secard and Mrs. Fred Karuhn.

The Stay-at-home club honored Mrs. H. H. Brockhaus at a party yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. J. Pfeifer. She was presented with a gift. Special guests were Mrs. W. E. Hannaford, Virginia, Minn., who arrived this week to spend several weeks with her sister, Mrs. E. C. Jost, and Mrs. Kenneth Hecker, Marietta, Ga., who also arrived to spend several weeks with her mother, Mrs. Charles Abrams. The prize at cards was won by Mrs. Jost.

Employees of the Borden Milk Products company held their first indoor social meeting of the season at the plant last night and about five tables of cards and games were played. Mrs. Ernest Wells and Mrs. J. H. Beuimler were hostesses and a lunch was served.

The Neighborhood club and friends surprised Mrs. Emil Wolf at a birthday party in her honor at her home at 1103 Division street Thursday evening. Five tables of cards were played and prizes went to Mrs. Kuschel of Clintonville who is visiting Mrs. Wolf, and Mrs. Louis Schmalenberg and Mrs. Minnie Hindes.

The P. O. club met at the home of Miss Helen Knapstein Thursday night. Mrs. L. M. Wright and Miss Kathryn Wilson were guests. Mrs. R. V. Prah won honors at cards and Mrs. Charles Nock received the traveling prize. Mrs. Nock will entertain in two weeks.

Mrs. Emil Gehrke was hostess to the West Side club yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Charles Pomrening and Mrs. Albert Pomrening won prizes. In two weeks Mrs. Oscar Norris will entertain.

Plans for Armistice day and the annual poppy drive were started by the Veterans of Foreign Wars auxiliary when it met at the home of Mrs. E. J. Schoenrock Thursday evening. Cards followed business and prizes were won by Mrs. George Kint, Mrs. Will Runge and Mrs. Del Collier.

It Is Said--

New London—That many New London residents have been puzzled the last few days by short untimely blasts from the factory whistle of the Borden Milk Products plant. Curiously enough, they always seem to occur on the hour, the half, or the quarter, misleading residents to believe that some factory has inaugurated unusual working hours, or something. It happens that the Borden company is installing three new boilers in the plant here and it seems workmen get tangled in the whistle cord once in a while, thereby causing the phenomenon.

Minister to Address Meeting of B. P. Club

New London—The Rev. Harold P. Rektstad will be guest speaker at the regular dinner meeting of the Business and Professional Women's club at the Elwood hotel Monday evening. The congregational pastor, will speak on the subject for the month, "My Job and Yours." His talk will follow a 6:30 dinner at which he and Mrs. Rektstad will be guests.

In charge of the program are Mrs. Jessie Newman and Mrs. J. F. Seering. The club will complete plans for a Halloween party at the John Spurr farm next week.

Mrs. Frank Calkins Is Honored at Waupaca

Waupaca—Past matrons of the Eastern Star entertained Thursday at a 1 o'clock luncheon at the home of Mrs. Roy Holly for Mrs. Frank Calkins who will leave next week to spend the winter in Florida.

Past matrons who were present were Mesdames Irvin Hanson, Arthur Woody, Fred Darling, Carrie Broadway, Carroll Cristy, Sam Taylor, Dixon Valentine, Waldo Hanson and Ernest Braatz.

Skunks Make Their Home Under Cottage; Warden Sets Traps

Waupaca — A skunk family that is making its home under the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Ted Murray on Taylor lake near the Veterans' Home, is becoming a nuisance and the Murrays have reported the matter to Sheriff D. R. Campbell. Unable to better the situation since the skunk season is closed until Oct. 25, the sheriff awaited the return of Conservation Warden George Whalen from a trip to the northern part of the state where he had been sent by the Wisconsin Conservation commission.

Upon investigation Friday Warden Whalen has decided that season or no season the skunks, six in all, will have to leave the Murray premises and traps were to be laid Saturday to expedite the decision.

Roosevelt Still Desires Law to Change Agencies

Passed Chance for Reorganization at Last Congressional Session

BY DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington — President Roosevelt, with commendable tenacity, insists that he wants congress to pass at the next session a law reorganizing the executive departments and agencies of the government.

The odd part of it is that Mr. Roosevelt could have had such a law at the last session if he had not been poorly advised and if he had permitted the reorganization plan to be completely divorced from politics and from two basic points—the discontinuance of an effective audit of expenses by the agents of congress and tampering with the quasi-judicial commissions.

The president, in his press conference at Hyde park, drew attention to the recently completed reorganization plan in the judicial branch of the government, where experts from the department of justice and a commission of jurists worked out a formula which was presented to congress for veto.

The analogy is not, however, on all fours with the reorganization of the executive agencies. In the first place, the judicial commission dealt wholly with procedure. Secondly, there was no question about the constitutional power of the judicial branch of the government to deal with the procedural questions.

Conflict of View

In the matter of executive reorganization, there is a conflict of view as to the power of congress not only to delegate certain authority to executive agencies, but to retain such control. For congress to delegate legislative functions except within prescribed limits is an unwarranted use of congressional power. Likewise, for the executive to seek broad grants of power which give discretion to executive agencies to make regulations sometimes equivalent to new law was not contemplated by the original separation of the executive and legislative branches.

Congress is responsible for the spending of money and for the last 15 years has insisted on exercising a check on expenditures through the office of comptroller-general. But the Roosevelt administration wants to furnish an audit after the money is spent and does not want any government officer checking in advance to determine whether money is about to be expended at variance with the purposes of congress.

Certainly, it is no time to lock the barn after the horses are stolen and no government agency would pay much attention to letters of comment written by an auditor general such as the administration favors, especially when the audit occurs after the money is spent.

Another Obstacle

Another obstacle to the passage of the reorganization bill was the president's insistence that quasi-judicial commissions come under budgetary control of the executive. The argument was that the courts already submit their budgets to the department of justice. But actually this system is not relished by the courts, though there is less concern about it because court officials are appointed for life.

As for the quasi-judicial commissions, their members are appointed by the executive for fixed terms and Mr. Roosevelt has assumed the authority to remove them without giving any cause, as he did in the case of the late William E. Humphreys of the Federal Trade commission. Earlier this year, too, the president removed Chairman Morgan of the TVA, even though the statute expressly pointed out the conditions of removal and the necessity of concurrence by a resolution of congress. By making up the budget for these commissions, politically-minded personnel can

Weyauwega Man Breaks Leg in Fall From Tree

Weyauwega—Charles Miller, 67, suffered a fractured right leg above the ankle about 3:30 Friday afternoon when he fell about fifteen feet from a tree. He was trimming the tree in the yard of Mrs. Carolyne Whitney when the accident occurred.

Tom Carew, manager of Hotel Dobbins, is attending the hotel managers convention at Eau Claire this week.

Those from the Ladies Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church who attended the annual meeting of the protestant church women at Clintonville were: Mrs. Carlton Cheek, Mrs. George Fischer, Mrs. James Van Epps, Mrs. Gusta Bellinger, Mrs. R. F. Peterson, Mrs. George Stevens, Mrs. Alvin Thomas and Mrs. C. P. Baldwin.

The George Moody residence, newly remodeled and redecorated, is now being occupied by the Dr. L. F. Corry and family. Dr. Corry is arranging rooms therein for his office and practice.

Mrs. Charles Villwock and daughter Ella and Alma left by train Thursday for Minneapolis, where they will make their home. They have rented their home to Edward Munsch and family.

At the Christian Endeavor society meeting on Wednesday the following officers were elected: President, Betty Bauer, vice president, Phyllis Knowles; secretary, Devota French, and treasurer, Marjorie Baxter.

A birthday surprise party was given in honor of Mrs. Walter Frost at her home Friday. The afternoon was spent in watching the Weyauwega Bear Creek football game. A pot luck supper was served at 6 o'clock.

Other Republican Speakers Might Take Cue From Dewey

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER

Washington—Nationwide as well as local attention is rated by the campaign start which Dewey is making in New York as to the Republican candidate for governor, because he is following a pattern to which the Republican national campaign might well be cut.

Dewey, in addressing his first big rally at Rochester, demonstrated that a Republican speech can be hard-hitting and biting without those preposterous insults to average intelligence with which so many Republicans have bored the country.

First, he dedicated his campaign to the break-up of "political monopoly." For several years Democrats have enjoyed a virtual political monopoly, thanks to the ineptitude of the Republicans. Governor Lehman is tired of his job, he was determined to quit, but was blackjacked into running again by the Democratic politicians who feared that with any other candidate they would lose. The choice, Dewey said, is between a willing and an unwilling candidate. "A vigorous administration against a group of jaded office holders; a fresh administration against one cluttered with the by-products of Tammany, Brooklyn and Albany political headquarters."

Second, Dewey said the corrupt political machines must go. Expressing his admiration for Lehman as an honorable and conscientious gentleman of the highest personal integrity and devotion to public service, Dewey pulled back the rug to show what was underneath. He named racketeering Democratic politicians, describing one as an ally of thieves, pickpockets and dope peddlers. Another he mentioned as the man who used his political pull to turn loose the murderer of a labor leader. He mentioned the Brooklyn machine, with justice for sale, where hundreds of police records have been torn from the books, one of the worst scandals New York ever has had.

One-Man Control

Another objection to the president's bill related to the abolition of the Civil Service commission and setting up 1-man control of civil service. If a civil service commissioner could be appointed who would really be immune from political influence and if he could serve a 15-year term and be beholden to nobody in government, there might be much to commend the plan.

On the whole, there are several points on which the president will have to compromise in order to get a reorganization bill passed. But, with the broad necessity of a reorganization, few persons who know government intimately will quarrel. It has been a reform agitated for decades by both Republican and Democratic presidents.

If Mr. Roosevelt is so taken with the idea of independent body of experts to formulate reorganization plans, a fertile field for such a group would be the drafting of rules of procedure for the quasi-judicial commissions. Certainly, the need for uniformity is more than ever necessary, and much litigation and boards had to obey the same rules of procedure and were equally zealous in safeguarding the citizen's rights. To such a use of experts, most persons who have had experience before the commissions would say "amen."

(Copyright, 1938)

New Deal Underpinnings

Offer Place for Attack

Piling instance upon instance, Dewey built the picture of a bored but honest governor, standing unwittingly as a front for such scoundrelous political conditions. This will be the most effective issue against the New York Democratic administration.

It is also an issue to be raised by Republicans in many other states—if they can forget their obsession over Roosevelt long enough to take advantage of the ammunition lying at their feet. In New Jersey, in Pennsylvania, in Missouri, Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and countless other places the underpinnings of the New Deal are sordid political machines, grown fat with loot picked out of the efforts of the Roosevelt administration to improve conditions in the country.

They Can Show Party Has Betrayed Leader

Why do the Republicans spend their time in the futile effort to convince the country that Roosevelt is a dictator or a communist when they can show that the Democratic party has, through many of its local bosses, betrayed everything Roosevelt stands for?

Third, on the broad national issues, which Dewey is touching upon in passing, he says that the national social and economic legislation enacted in the last few years is but a reflection of the social and economic changes in the world and that it is the duty of the party in power to respond to the will of the people. But, he continues, much of the progress has stopped with the first step, the problems of agriculture and unemployment remain unsolved. Big business has made many mistakes in the past, and its excesses have made possible the cesses of government. Dewey hopes both business and government have earned their lesson.

One speech doesn't make a statesman, but compare the case Dewey makes with that which so many of his fellow Republicans are trying to make, and he stands up, in this performance, as a sturdy young oak, working up through a forest of dead and falling timber.

Architect at U. of W. Delivers Lecture at Meeting in Waupaca

Waupaca — "Beautifying Home Grounds" was the subject of a talk by Lawrence Holmes, landscape architect of the University of Wisconsin Extension division at the high school Thursday evening. Superintendent Lester M. Emans, on behalf of Harold Peter, Smith-Hughes instructor, and his Future Farmers of America, had extended an invitation to members of the Waupaca Garden club and parents of the F. F. A. to attend the lecture.

Mr. Holmes is in Waupaca to carry out the landscaping plans drawn up previously by a University of Wisconsin horticultural engineer, but much of the landscaping of the school grounds will be done in conjunction with agricultural instruction, students themselves taking part in the work and learning the basic principles of tree and shrub planting, as well as lawn and garden arrangement.

Friday morning the planting program was begun, Mr. Holmes demonstrating to the many interested visitors, the methods of tree and shrub plantings as well as pruning methods. For some weeks a project has been in process under sponsorship of the WPA, resurfacing the grounds and preparing for this final planting program.

Strike Called by Union on Project At Morgan School

Trades Council, Contractors Reach Agreement On Road Projects

Work on the Morgan school remodeling project was suspended yesterday when Charles Debenack, representing the Building Trades council, ordered a strike of 13 union men employed on the job.

Debenack said today that the school board had been exceptionally fair with the trades council but that the council would not allow its men to work on the job with two non-union employees of the Gold Bond Roofing and Siding company, Appleton.

Union men who were working on the job included painters, electricians, carpenters and sheet metal workers. Two non-union men are working for the roofing company.

A. James Lytle, Jr., superintendent of the job, said that the board of education "had made every effort for the duration of the job to avoid trouble with the unions." About $15,000 was paid out to union men during the job, a WPA project not requiring union labor, Lytle said.

Debenack said he would meet with the school board Tuesday evening to discuss the situation. The work will be held up until that time.

Reach Agreement

Union men employed on the grade separation projects on the new Superhighway 41 route near the county asylum this morning returned to their jobs when a tentative agreement was reached after the men were on strike for about an hour.

The strike was called yesterday afternoon by the Building Trades council which charged that the Bloomer Construction company and the Allied Contracting company were employing non-union men. Under a tentative agreement reached this morning the contractors will hire only union men in the future, according to Debenack, but the non-union men now employed on the two projects may continue at work.

Pleads Guilty of Vagrancy, Stealing, Resisting Officer

John Burnik, Brampton, Mich., pleaded guilty of vagrancy, petty larceny and resisting an officer when he appeared before Acting Municipal Judge Fred V. Heinemann this morning. Sentence was deferred until Monday.

Burnik was arrested yesterday after he stole some men's socks at a local store. He attempted to escape after being searched by Detective Sergeant John Duval who caught the man after a short chase.

Clarence Mack, Houghton, Mich., pleaded guilty of vagrancy and sentence was deferred until Monday.

FRESHMEN LIGHT TORCHES FOR HOMECOMING MARCH

An idea of what the well-dressed Lawrence college co-ed was wearing last night at the annual homecoming pep rally and torchlight parade can be gleaned from the above picture taken as the freshmen received their win or lose Saturday's game.

Voluntinous flannel nightgowns enveloped the freshmen girls and the boys were dazzling in flannel pajamas, a few bright red, others with dainty teddy bear designs in the material, and the rest in pastel shades of pink, blue and yellow. Some of the co-eds protected their hair from the drizzling rain with peasant scarves which are still finding favor with the collegiate crowd. Following a program of songs, cheers and speeches in the glow of a huge bonfire on the river bank behind Science hall, the students lit their torches and paraded up the Drew street hill and down College avenue through the center of town. and urged the students to keep up their pep and enthusiasm for the college and the team whether they win or lose Saturday's game.

Coach Bernie Heselson spoke briefly of his confidence in the team and asked for the support of the student body, and Co-Captains Joe Maertziwiler and Albert Novakofski each said a few words of encouragement. Russell Plom, Menasha, representing the alumni, brought word of alumni support and backing for the team and the college.

Burning In Effigy

Speeches were halted momentarily to allow for the "cremation" of Carroll in the form of an effigy in Carroll college football uniform, and the rain came down harder.

At the close of the program the freshmen gathered at the foot of the Drew street hill and formed ranks to receive their oil-soaked torches for the traditional torch-light parade down College avenue. Led by the band they snaked-danced through the rain, up the hill and onto the avenue, their torches casting a rosy glow against the autumn-tinted foliage of the campus. The parade progressed through town to the police station where the burned sticks were tossed onto a pile to be disposed of by the firemen, and the paraders, still undaunted by the rain, swarmed into the Appleton and Rio theaters where they were admitted upon showing their all-college tickets.

Leviton Talks at Progressive Meet

State Treasury Department Is Efficient, Candidate Says

Solomon Leviton, state treasurer, spoke of his record in asking that he be returned to the office on the Progressive ticket in the November election in a talk before about 300 persons at the courthouse last night.

He cited press comments from various newspapers throughout the country which he said indicated that efficiency of the state treasury department compares most favorably with those of other states.

Antone Miller, candidate for the assembly and county Progressive chairman, urged that a straight Progressive vote be cast for the state candidates.

Meetings also were held in the county last night by the Democrats and Republicans. The Democrats held a family meeting at Greenville. The Republicans met at Kimberly. Several candidates for county offices spoke and plans for organizing a Young Republican group in the village were discussed.

Appleton Awarded 1939 Conclave of Electrical Group

Appleton was awarded the 1939 convention of the Wisconsin section of the International association of Electrical Inspectors during closing sessions of a convention in Milwaukee Thursday. The dates of the meeting will be selected by the executive committee next July.

Stations Placed in City for Entrants In Halloween Parade

Stations have been placed throughout the city to make it more convenient for youngsters wishing to enter the WPA Mummer's costume parade, which will be staged at 7 o'clock Monday night, Oct. 31, Halloween night.

Youngsters who wish to enter the parade may leave their entry blanks with name, age and address at the following places: F. W. Woolworth store, 108 E. College avenue; Donini Meat Market, 544 N. Lave street; Unmuth Drug store, 208 E. Wisconsin avenue; Quade's Grocery store, 124 S. Walnut street; Jacob's Grocery store, Madison street; Austin Grocery store, Prospect avenue and Mason street.

Children living any place in the city or county have been invited to enter the parade. About 500 already have entered. Each entry must wear some kind of a costume, the choice is up to the entrant. Youngsters will be classified by the kind of costume worn and by their respective ages.

"PIKES PEAK OR BUST." IT'S BUST.

Colorado had been going along beautifully until the bee stung it.

It is a state with many of the constitutional safeguards which Wisconsin has. Thus its credit, like ours, was high. Its cities could borrow at the lowest rates in the country.

But, as we said, the bee stung it, and stung it plenty.

First of all, Colorado adopted the Initiative and Referendum which, excepting in a few isolated and restricted cases, is actually an abandonment of our form of government which is a representative form of government based upon the rock-ribbed truth that the people cannot by voting directly on measures, excepting those of basic principle, operate their government other than to destroy it.

The referendum in Colorado was used to create a minimum old age pension of $45 a month, and, to make it solid, it was written into the constitution by amendment in the form of a guarantee to every resident of the state 60 years of age, the most advanced provision in the United States.

Most of our states took advantage of the Social Security Act under which the national government contributed half of any amount up to $30 a month, but this only applies to those 65 years of age, and then only if it can be established they are actually in need.

Colorado wouldn't be bothered with such pitter-patter conditions. It was like the fellow who stood up at the bar and ordered all hands to drink throwing down the remnants of his pay check while his children at home hunted the larder over for something to eat.

Today Colorado isn't paying $45 a month. It went broke trying to do it. During the last nine months the payments have dropped steadily as the money gave out. Today they average $25 a month.

So what has this nonsense accomplished? Did it get the oldsters $45 a month? They are getting only $25. And what did it do to the treasury? It is empty.

Colorado found it could not do the impossible. That is all.

And to show how moonstruck are these notions that millions can be supported so easily let it be remembered that Colorado followed many original Townsend theories. It earmarked and set aside 85 per cent of its existing 2 per cent sales tax as well as a similar fraction of the state liquor tax and added to this big pile 10 per cent of all its inheritance taxes and incorporation fees.

In order to favor the oldsters it diverted this great sum of money which had previously been expended for unemployment relief, aid to crippled children, the blind and other social services, and threw this burden upon the public, and when the public failed at times to absorb it misery, abject want, resulted.

The trouble with referendums of this sort is that the people vote blindly, guided by emotions, often of the best nature, but without regard to Mr. Reality who will tell you he can only produce a certain number of loaves from a barrel of flour.

Thus by reducing the age limit from 65 to 60, Colorado actually increased the number of its pensioners by 60 per cent, a reckless thing to do under the circumstances. And to crown this mountain of nonsense the blubbery writer of the bill included a clause to the effect that when there was any money left in the pension fund it was to be divided evenly among the pensioners as a sort of bonus at the end of every calendar year, thus destroying once and for all any chance of building a reserve against the fluctuations of life; and this too in a state that has sufficient fluctuations in temperature to remind people of the utter uncertainty of almost everything.

From the Colorado situation a number of smart deductions may be made if they will do any good to people who should have been wise to them from the experiences of others.

One is that a representative form of government wherein capable men are chosen to enact the laws is much to be preferred to a pure democracy where the people enact their own laws. And the other principle is that parlor or bar room theories of the Townsend order cannot create wealth but may actually destroy it.

MADRID WANTS TO BE DECENT

In Barcelona, city of drama and gesticulation, a great court trial, symbolic of the times, has been taking place.

Andres Nin, among others, is charged with various crimes of "ominous activity" including treason and espionage, and more particularly, that as a member of the Workers Party for Marxist Unification he did provoke "a real revolution in Catalonia aimed at disrupting the Loyalist or Madrid government."

Now it so happens that Andres Nin was once the loyal secretary to one Leon Trotsky and that he came to Spain after its revolution got under way from Russia and immediately became active in affairs of state and the army. It also appears undisputed that about two years ago this Andres Nin was duly arrested, put in jail, and from thence carted forth one dark night by Reds of the Stalin shade and duly shot like all "enemies of the proletariat."

But what of this trial then? Why have a public trial and invite correspondents from near and far in the hope and expectation of letting the world know what transpires?

The only logical answer is that the Madrid government, having become wedded to Moscow in a drunken moment, is suing for a divorce. It wants to reform. It prefers the congenial comradeship of men as distinguished from running with wild animals.

Spain is not only tired of its civil contest but exhausted. There is nothing to make one think of the advantages of respectability more than hardship.

Moreover, though it fights savagely for position and power, Communism has lost face more completely within the last twelve months than at any other time since it shot a liberal democratic government at Petrograd into the grave. No one cares to take it by the claw, and it hasn't a hand.

In this celebrated trial the Madrid government is trying to prove anything that will absolve it from the horrible accusation of being a Red. As part and parcel of its present attempt to return to grace it parades churchmen on its streets and has them photographed for world publications. It intimates that Nin may have been an agent of the Nazis, though one of Nin's friends on the stand declares in answer to such an interrogatory, "If I had known a Nazi I would have killed him."

The procedure adopted by the Madrid government is in American parlance perfectly okeh. The man who falls low and wishes to reform should be assisted. The same idea must prevail in regard to nations.

We have no doubt that the great majority of the people that have been under the Madrid government today detest Communism more thoroughly than those who have never seen its tusks or felt its fetid breath. These people were traduced, deceived, defrauded and chained. It must be a great relief to them to observe some evidence of returning sanity.

At the outset the Reds were in complete control of the Madrid government, that is to say, they ran the cabinet and their mobs ran the country. Gradually as new governments were formed to answer public protests the number of Red Ministers in the cabinet has been reduced until the last cabinet formed had but one and he was given the most unimportant place.

If this conversion of the Madrid government from sickness to health is found genuine, what other reason persists for continuing the bloodshed?

TAKING HERR HITLER'S ADVICE

At one of the magnificently staged affairs of the Nazi party in Germany Herr Hitler spoke himself thus:

"It is cheaper to prepare one's self before events than to lie prostrate unprepared for events and then pay the price of defeat."

With this view most men will give full accord.

Still when American leaders such as Mr. Baruch mildly suggest that we should critically examine our protective armor the press of Germany with one voice screams at us, "War Mongers." Next thing we know we will be accused of inciting men to battle.

Not long since Herr Hitler also spoke thus:

"It is a part of the task of securing world peace that responsible statesmen and politicians look after their own affairs and refrain from meddling with the problems of other countries and peoples."

Most of us will agree fully with this statement.

But while the German press is now raging at the democracies because they are getting their swords in shape, and attacking public men like Captain Eden and Alfred Duff Cooper in England it is insisting that the press outside of Germany be effectively muzzled because its criticisms make the moody Fuehrer angry.

None of this is printed with the expectation that argument or explanation is required to show the hopelessness of dealing with the Nazi mind. It is merely printed with the purpose of recording the facts. The conclusions are too obvious to require treatment.

DALE HARRISON'S

In Old New York

Aboard S.S. Coasme, Homeward Bound — Thoughts While Rolling:

The ship's dining salon is filled for the first meal out, and that's the last we'll see of fifty per cent of the passengers until we dock in New York.

Ice melts faster in Puerto Rico than any place I ever saw.

Do coconuts ever fall, like apples, and klunk unsuspecting citizens on the head?

I must remember to ask Guy Lombardo if he ever plays, "Oh, I Wish I Were in Peoria" any more—the best ditty his lads ever caroled.

Puerto Ricans make the niftiest throw-rugs you could wish for, using sugar bags. There aren't as many United States soldiers in Puerto Rico as a body might imagine; there's a regiment camped there, but I saw nary a soldier in ten days.

The reliability of the Trade Winds, so enthusiastically ballyhooed in the school books, is greatly exaggerated; but they're mighty comforting when they do blow.

Wonder what a man-eating shark eats when he can't find a man?

Puerto Rico Memories: The narrow, winding roads, with curves so close together that an automobile rarely gets a chance to go faster than 60 kilometres an hour; El Yunque, the government-operated mountain resort which has Niagara Falls beaten four ways from Sunday as a honeymoon spot.

The Puerto Rican "TVA" project, a two-hour ride from San Juan, where the government within a few years will be able to provide cheap power to the whole island (and won't the private power companies gnash their teeth); the lean, stalwart handsomeness of the native men, and the midsectional substantiality of the women.

The holiday spirit at the docks every Thursday as the boats sail for New York; the Plaza, like the Public Square of a southern city, with people sitting around at evening on benches; taxicabs which you are able to identify as such only by a "P" on their license plates—and even when you have found the cab, you still must find the driver; the super-sweetness of the food, and the use of three and even four spoonsful of sugar to each cup of coffee.

Open air barbering on Saturday afternoons—a chair under a roadside tree, with the barbering being done by whomever feels like it; the federal government's efforts to increase egg production, and its failure because of the Puerto Rican's inclination promptly to slay the fowl and eat them;

The public indifference to radio (due, perhaps, to the poor reception of American stations); pigs on leashes, and pigs carried lovingly in arms; the remoteness of the American-type hotels from the center of the city; the surprising lack of interest of the natives in the sea (one would think they would be fishermen, with the sea at their doorstep and the waters rich in fish); and goats wandering around the market places, nosing into garbage cans (and glowering at me and making me very nervous).

The most "American" man in Puerto Rico, to my notion, is Don Miguel Suchs, Spaniard born. Look into any progressive activity of the island, and you are sure to find that Don Miguel Suchs fathered it, spanked it into life and carried it through to completion.

It was Suchs who built the new Spanish Club—the Casa Espanola—and turned it over to its board of directors without a penny's indebtedness. It was Suchs who was active in inaugurating the Bureau of Tourism which is spreading the gospel of the island's resort beauties. And it is Don Miguel Suchs who will show you his birth certificate from Spain and then will turn sharply to you and say: "But understand me, my friend, I am an American!" And the pride which fills his voice when he says it makes you happy that you are an American, too.

"I came, a sailor-boy, from Spain to New York," he said. "I saw a show—George M. Cohan in 'It Pays to Advertise.' I could not understand much English, but I got the idea. It Pays to Advertise. I made it my motto. It has paid me to advertise. I advertise Don Miguel Suchs. Pretty soon the people say, 'Don Miguel must be a very good man,' and pretty soon the poor Spanish sailor-boy is working and making money and is an American."

And also vice-president of the Bull Steamship Co., and a director in virtually everything of importance to the life of Puerto Rico. (Copyright, 1938)

Looking Backward

10 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Oct. 20, 1928

Workmen started barricading W. College avenue in front of the building formerly occupied by the J. T. McCann Auto company preparatory to marking alterations on the structure for the J. C. Penney company store. It was expected the new structure would be ready for occupancy in about four months, according to J. R. Whitman, manager.

Frank Walsh, professional at Butte des Morts golf club, was to be the instructor for the 1929 season, it was announced by officers of the club. It was to be his fifth season.

Dr. D. J. O'Connor was elected president of the newly organized Appleton Industrial Loan and Mortgage company located at 106 N. Oneida street at a meeting of local organizers at the company offices the previous evening. Other officers elected were John Stevens, Jr., vice president; Karl Schuetter, vice president; William J. Roemer, treasurer, and William J. Konrad, secretary and general manager. Members of the board of directors were Allen Hoffman, Milwaukee; W. C. Jacobson, J. P. Koenig, Appleton; Julius J. Martens, Kaukauna; Ben Flomberg, Menasha, and C. E. Raught, Kaukauna.

25 YEARS AGO

Saturday, Oct. 23, 1913

The cabbage market took an unexpected turn that week, being forced from $10 a ton Monday to $15 a ton on Thursday by several Chicago buyers.

Eight new country schools, to cost about $3,000 each or $24,000 in all, were then in course of construction in Outagamie county. At least three more new country schools were to be erected the following year. Plans for seven of the new schools were made by W. W. DeLong, Appleton architect.

Both live and dressed pork took a drop of 50 cents a hundred that day on the local market.

Will Hickel, local electrician, left the previous day for the Isthmus of Panama where he was to be employed for a year on the big canal. Mr. Mann, Oshkosh, was in the city that day inspecting bond paper which the Fox River Paper company was making for the government use in the Panama Zone.

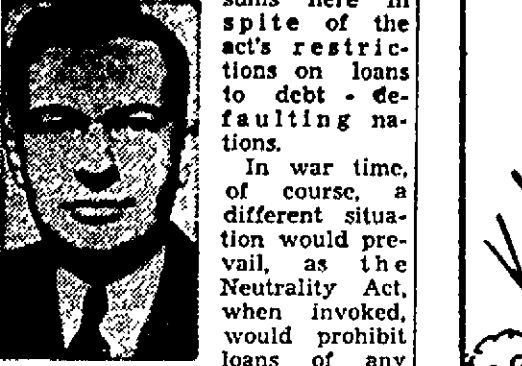

It was the sober old road
We had to travel down.
We drove along a new road
Of life but found that we
Must come back to the old road
To reach Infinity—
A road of faith and wisdom,
A road where angels tread,
A road worn deep by pilgrims
Whose journeys led to God!

A Bystander

In Washington

BY PRESTON GROVER

Washington — So many loopholes appear in the Johnson act that fiscal sharpshooters here predict that foreigners, if pressed for credit, could borrow immense sums here in spite of the act's restrictions on loans to debt-defaulting nations.

Grover

In war time, of course, a different situation would prevail, as the Neutrality Act, when invoked, would prohibit loans of any kind to foreign nations or their nationals.

But the Johnson act was a peace-time loan embargo measure. It was passed by congress in 1934 in the wake of a flood of defaults in payments on war debts and other debts. It prohibits foreign governments from borrowing money in this country as long as they are in default in their payments. Since every important European nation is in that predicament, it generally has been assumed that they could not borrow a red cent in the U. S.

War Crisis Brought Scrutiny

The Czech war scare, coupled with talk of a new loan to revive Czechoslovakia and perhaps other nations, has prompted a closer look.

The Johnson act, while prohibiting loans to debt-defaulting governments, does not prohibit loans to private concerns in those countries. Further, the attorney general has ruled that municipalities in the debtor countries can borrow here if their municipal bonds are not in default. For instance, the city of London, if not in default on its securities, can borrow here.

As a matter of fact, twelve billion dollars or more of American money now is invested abroad, exclusive of war debts. Americans invested more than $5,000,000,000 abroad during 1936 and 1937, although the net flow of capital was in this direction because of the rush of foreign investment in America.

May Run Into Billions

With such openings through our credit barriers, the amount of buying which Europe could do in this country is considerable. One important source said it might run to several times as much as the amount of foreign money now invested in this country. These foreign investments here amount to about nine billion dollars.

Actual dollar credits in American banks and other "quick" credits owned by foreigners can be used at once if foreigners wish to buy American supplies. "Long term" credits, forming two-thirds of the total, would be converted into goods more slowly.

So far, this involves merely spending money already here, either hoarded here from abroad, or sent here for investment. But look what can happen.

A big order for goods is to be placed by an English firm for steel, clothes, tires, or airplanes. The American firm is told only part will be paid in cash, the rest in one, two, or three year notes. The American manufacturer wants the job. Unless he is able to arrange the credit the English purchaser demands, he loses the contract. So he asks his bank if it will buy the notes or lend him money on them so his capital will not be tied up.

If the foreign company offering the buying is a substantial firm, such as the big British armament firm of Vickers, the bank may readily buy the notes and expect to rediscount them (get cash for them) at the Federal Reserve banks.

And thus a big line of borrowing could be launched.

Profits Change Views

The extent to which such practices now are followed is unknown here. Probably it isn't large. If it grew to real proportions, likely enough the court would be asked to rule whether such business was in violation of the spirit of the Johnson act. But if the business was proving profitable at the time, it is doubtful how long a court decision would stand in the way. Tremendous pressure would be put upon congress to wipe out the barrier entirely.

In fact, the pressure is already being felt, not only to revise the Johnson act but to repeal it entirely so that the argument goes, American credits can help along an international trade revival.

THE MENACE OF FASCISM

Your Birthday

"SCORPIO"

If October 23 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:45 to 11:45 a. m.; from 1:45 to 3:45 p. m.; and from 7:45 to 9:45 p. m. The danger periods are from 7:45 to 9:45 a. m.; from 5:45 to 7:45 p. m.; and from 9:45 to 11:45 p. m.

If October 23 is your birthday anniversary, you were born under the Zodiacal sign Scorpio. Among the many characteristics attributed to people born under Scorpio are: strength of character, aggressiveness, self-assurance, generosity, tenaciousness and an inclination to be secretive. A love for the good things of life is the principal reason why Scorpio people have a long life for wealth. You have it in your power to be either very popular or very much disliked. You may be fond of dramatic situations, particularly if they afford an opportunity to display emotionalism. A fine sense of humor and a sly tongue, should enable you to hold your own in any argument. You should be able to use your hands skillfully. In sentimental matters you are apt to be ruled by your heart rather than by cool judgment. The topaz is your birthstone, and red and crimson are the colors most favorable for you to wear. You most likely believe in strict discipline. Married and engaged couples, as well as those who are on the verge of becoming betrothed, in celebrating a birthday anniversary this day, should remember that the honey-suckle, gentian and red carnation are the flowers that should be included in the celebration as they are natural affinities of persons born on this date.

If a woman and October 23 is your natal day, you may have a very analytical mind. You are apt to be quick in your movements, and keep yourself under a nervous tension by being always in a hurry. Music should have a soothing influence and act as a sedative whenever you become disturbed. There are perhaps very few persons who enjoy your complete confidence. Through brokering, teaching, writing, acting, singing or interior decorating you may accomplish far more than you have any hope of doing. Your matrimonial prospects appear to be excellent.

The child born on October 23 frequently has a great deal of curiosity. Inclined to want his own way and to be obstinate, firmness might be needed to properly handle this youngster. A good mind and decided ability, seem to assure a successful future for this child.

If a man and October 23 is the date of your birth, you probably will have many congenial friends. Self-control and consistent good work ought to enable you to become successful. Among the best vocations for you to engage in are: architecture, botany, mining, engineering, medicine, chemistry, dentistry, selling, journalism or acting.

Personal Health Talks

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Noted Physician and Author

LOST FORTY AND ATE

The mother of three children, eldest aged 25 years, is 46 years old, 64 inches tall and weighs as much as two mothers should weigh. She never has been skinny, she tells me, and she has dieted and dieted with hardly any results. Only by "leaving meats, fats, starches and sugars entirely alone" can she reduce appreciably—and on such a regimen she gets some relief from aches or pains in the muscles and joints, which she blithely ascribes to acidosis—as suggested by some doctor or near-doctor she consulted when you and I were young, Maggie.

Reminds me of my grandma. Seems that when grandma was a young girl she was examined by the famous Dr. Shattuck of Boston. And sure enough when I came home from medical school parading my stethoscope I tested grandma's lungs, failed to hear the breathing, and won her admiration and confidence from then on. "That boy knows as much as he'll ever know," she assured me. "Dr. Shattuck of Boston told me fifty years ago that one of my lungs was gone."

What puzzles me is how the lady lives at all without "meats, fats, starches or sugars." Or doesn't she count the materials of that sort one gets in milk, vegetables, fruits, eggs, fish? You never know what a misguided layman means when he talks about avoiding starches.

As likely as not, she merely excludes Yorkshire pudding and fried potatoes, as these seemed to bring on his doctor's uncle's attacks of colic.

Picture this unhappy woman, as she describes it—"rushing around doing all my own work, baking for others, doing club, church and Sunday school work, dieting faithfully and still not losing any weight, although the aching was not so 'bad'—and receiving a letter from an old friend in another state, who tells about her phenomenal experience. Believe it or not, this friend wrote to Dr. Brady, got a copy of his booklet "New Design for Dining," followed the simple, moderate regimen described in detail therein, and from May 1 to September 1 reduced a cool forty pounds, seemingly in the easiest way our heroine has ever heard of.

Now all the heroine wants to know is whether there will be any serious after effects when one loses as fast as that, such after effects as acidosis, which, she understands, is so commonly the case.

I forget whether I mention acidosis at all in the booklet but if I do, it is probably only to suggest how certain features of the reduction regimen oppose or prevent it.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Granulated Eyelids

What causes and what can be done to relieve granulated eyelids? MISS H. E. A.

Answer—Chronic red sore eyes and granulated eyelids commonly spell trachoma in the south. That is a contagious eye inflammation which leads to blindness if not diagnosed and properly treated. Sometimes simple chronic inflammation of lid linings gives a velvety appearance which may be called "granulated." This latter condition, however, is annoying but not dangerous and has little influence on the sight. Whatever the trouble with the eyes, give yourself the benefit of the eye doctor's care.

Migraine

Beery, Rooney in Racetrack Story

'Stablemates' Heads Current Bill at Rio Theater

A new screen team was introduced to the audience yesterday at the Rio Theatre, and not since Wallace Beery and Jackie Cooper appeared in "The Champ," has an audience been so receptive and enthusiastic. The new team is that of Wallace Beery and Mickey Rooney who are co-starring in "Stablemates."

Beery is seen in the role of a once brilliant veterinarian who changed to a race track bum because he was framed into a murder charge. Rooney, fresh from his triumph in "Boys Town," won more admirers, if possible, in his characterization of the stable boy and jockey who befriends Beery in order to get the latter to operate on his injured horse. The two join forces and tour the country with the race horse, which Rooney has been given in lieu of his salary.

When the horse is in perfect condition they start for Hollywood Park to participate in the big race. One day Rooney listens to a radio broadcast and learns that his traveling companion is an escaped convict. Having learned to love Beery like a father, he tries to persuade him not to come to the track without letting him know the reason. Capture is sure if he does. But Beery goes along. There they meet the man who was responsible for Beery's framed charge. He is the former owner of Rooney's horse and takes it from the boy because he can't show ownership papers. Then things really start to happen, with the action of the big race matching the tempo of the climax.

Joe Penner in "Mr. Doodle Kicks Off" is co-featured on the same program.

COMING TO APPLETON THEATER

George Raft and Henry Fonda will be seen as a pair of seagoing comrades in the new Alaskan romance, "Spawn of the North," which is to open very soon at the Appleton Theatre. Dorothy Lamour completes the trio starring in the production. The outstanding supporting cast includes Akim Tamiroff, John Barrymore, Louise Platt and Lynne Overman.

To mend a previous quarrel, Rosalind Russell as "Christine," a village school-mistress, comes to Robert Donat (Dr. Manson) with a fictitious cough. Donat, undecieved, carries out a thorough examination, in this amusing scene from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's British production, "The Citadel." King Vidor directs.

Furnish Teachers With Earth to Grow Plants

Materials to grow plants, jars, black dirt and peat moss, have been offered to high school teachers by members of the Appleton High school Nature club. All the teachers have to do is furnish the plants and the students will take care of the rest. Harvey Gygi and W. C. Pickett are faculty advisers to the club.

TEACHERS MEETING

English teachers of the Appleton public school system will meet at 4 o'clock Monday afternoon at the Morcan. It was announced today. Problems of student guidance will be discussed.

IN 'ALEXANDER'S RAGTIME BAND'

"Alexander's Ragtime Band," the song which Irving Berlin wrote nearly thirty years ago and which has lived long enough in popular fancy to become a genuine American folk song, forms the theme of the Darryl F. Zanuck 20th Century-Fox production which bears the song's name.

The film opens at the Elite Theatre, for 3 days starting next Wednesday, with Tyrone Power, Alice Faye and Don Ameche in the starring roles.

Divorce Problem Is Picture Theme

'Women Against Women' Coming to Elite Theater

Timely in its theme, entertaining in its presentation, refreshing in its adult characterizations, "Woman Against Woman," playing at the Elite theater, Monday and Tuesday, Bargain days, offers both telling and amusing sidelights on the perennial divorce problem.

A picturization of Margaret Culkin Banning's national magazine story, "Enemy Territory," the film relates the story of a husband, Herbert Marshall, who takes his second wife, Virginia Bruce, to his home town where his first wife, Mary Astor, and child, Juanita Quigley, still live. In the hands of this skilled trio of leads the story is deftly woven, with Marshall drawing a compelling portrait of the husband who finds the happiness of his second marriage threatened with disaster. Miss Bruce, as the second wife who has the courage to see the problem through, shows herself an increasingly fine actress. Miss Astor, in an unsympathetic role, is equally effective, the two feminine leads presenting vivid contrasts in both appearance and character.

Supporting roles fall into a host of capable hands, none better than those of six-year-old Juanita Quigley, the child who adds the keener problem to be solved. Janet Beecher as Marshall's mother, Marjorie Rambeau as the hearty and sensible senior's wife, Zeffie Tilbury as Miss Bruce's "dragon" of a grandmother, Sarah Padden as the nurse and Betty Ross Clarke as the town gossip all add breeziness, charm and color.

built a big display room — featuring bathtubs!

For several years a girl named Holly Barnes has been Barbara Stanwyck's girlfriend, best friend, philosopher-in-ordinary and best friend. Last week she developed a severe cold and Barbara sent her to the mountains for a rest. On Monday, when Holly returned, she discovered that her seven-room bungalow had been completely redecorated—rugs, linens, silver, dishes, et al, and on the living room mantle was a note from Barbara, which read: "Dear Holly — Hope you like the new stuff and things. It doesn't take a profound psychologist to discover why Barbara Stanwyck is one of Hollywood's best-liked people."

An amusing feud between Clark Gable and Walter Pidgeon: During the production of "Too Hot to Handle," Walter heckled Clark unmercifully about his love-making. "And they call you a great lover!" he would snort scornfully after Clark had kissed Myrna Loy in his most romantic style. And Clark, usually too phlegmatic to mind, finally began to burn. "I'll fix him," he confided to one too many people. "I'm going to the preview of 'Listen, Darling,' and laugh out loud every time he goes into a love scene with Mary Astor." "Listen, Darling" was previewed the other night and Walter made it a point to invite Clark. "In Glendale — a sneak showing," he confided. Clark, gloating in anticipation of his revenge, drove to Glendale. There was a preview there, all right, but it was a picture from another studio — "Listen, Darling" was being previewed in Hollywood. And Mr. Gable, more annoyed than before, is still planning retaliation.

The current newspaper stories about Garbo's return remind me of the press luncheon with which Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer celebrated her first arrival. A publicity man introduced her: "This," he said, "is Miss Garbo — she speaks no English." Garbo took her bow. "No," she added, "not vun word!" (Copyright, 1938)

Had lunch today with Henry Buquet, former test-director for M-G-M where he is now handling features, and heard the story of his prize boner. One day he was requested to film a test of a famous radio star. Buquet did his best, but the net result was so bad that he broke his usual policy and offered the hero of the airman a bit of free advice. It's none of my business," he said, "but if I were you, I'd give up any idea of pictures. You don't photograph well, your technique is all wrong for the screen and your personality just doesn't get over. Stick to radio — you haven't a chance in Hollywood." It's been more than two years now since Buquet sent that radio star a note of apology and well wishes. It was addressed to Don Ameche.

Ever since Cecil B. De Mille produced "Male and Female," way back yonder, Hollywood has been ribbing him about his fondness for bathtub scenes and some of the wisecracks coined at his expense have been more than amusing. But the most subtle of all is C. B.'s own discovery that, on the site of the Boston home where he proposed to his wife years ago, the Crane Plumbing Company has

U. S. Emphasis on Armaments Aligns Western Hemisphere in Streamlined Monroe Doctrine

BY MORGAN M. BEATTY

Washington—The central but unspoken theme of all the armament talk in high places through Americas today is nothing more nor less than a streamlined Monroe doctrine.

That means a Monroe operated by and for the doctored—a western hemisphere set apart with a "No Trespassing" sign tacked on all shore jointly by the United States and the Latin American nations, and Canada.

Such in 1933 model of the Monroe doctrine is a far cry from the popular idea so long held in Latin America that Uncle Sam is a big bully of a fellow, a self appointed policeman who goes around clubbing little nations.

Beginning with the post-war Coolidge term, such tactics became a thing of the past. Hoover followed the promising Coolidge pattern, and Roosevelt has carried it a step further with his "good neighbor" policy.

European Ties Weaken

Meanwhile Latin America's language and cultural ties with Europe continued to dominate cultural life of the Latin American nations. Germany and Italian political ideas particularly wielded important influence.

But all along, there has been a growing tendency to regard the United States in a more friendly light. Brazil, especially, has gone out of the way to align her foreign policy with America's.

Experts say that disappointing trade arrangements with Germany and distrust of the European political balances have been mounting in South America, and that citizens of those countries are growing more and more democratic in their political ideas.

The experts feel that the deciding factor in America's favor did not develop until the peace of Munich was signed. It then became obvious that European nations had merely provided a breather to give themselves time to complete their fabulous armaments programs.

If ever a small nation needed a powerful friend, it needs one now. And in the United States, as the experts here see it, Latin Amercan nations have one friend with no design on their territory.

It was natural, therefore, that President Roosevelt's recent talk of revising our defense plans should be interpreted to mean that we were planning a navy and army capable of defending the whole western hemisphere.

That would, in their view also explain his reassurance to Canada that the United States would not stand idly by if she were attacked.

May Modernize Monroe

In the offing is an opportunity to express a 1938 model Monroe doctrine, say the experts. That is the Pan-American conference December 9. Before the delegates will be important evidence on which to base a declaration of principles.

Here is part of it:

1. The United States and other nations of the hemisphere are exchanging educators and students in a scheme to increase the cultural ties between nations of different language and background.
2. United States radio chains are now broadcasting special programs for South America.
3. The United States is conducting negotiations with Mexico in the all-important oil dispute without intemperate ultimatums or force, despite the great sums of money and property involved. To many Latin, that's proof of our sincerity, the experts argue.
4. Of the $6,700,000,000 invested abroad by citizens of the United States, some $5,500,000,000—or three-fourths—is being risked in Canada, Newfoundland and the Latin nations below the Rio Grande.
5. Intra-American trade is on the upgrade, and Europe's trade with the Latin American nations is going down steadily. Canada and the United States sell each other well over $300,000,000 worth of goods each year. We are shipping close to $600,000,000 worth of our products to Central and South America each year and the countries to the south are sending us nearly $700,000,000 worth of theirs.

To strengthen those elements of friendship, the United States is of-

'Algiers' Now at Appleton Theater

Charles Boyer, Sigrid Gurie, Hedy Lamarr In Cast

Charles Boyer has his most romantic role as a lovable fugitive in "Algiers," the colorful adventurous romance that stars him opposite Hedy Lamarr's two most glamorous new comers, Sigrid Gurie and Hedy Lamarr. This picture is now showing at the Appleton theatre.

"Algiers" casts the dark-eyed screen lover as Pepe le Moko, devil-may-care international jewel thief, who takes refuge from the French police by living in the Casbah, the mysterious native quarter of Algiers where the law dare not intrude.

Here Pepe le Moko rules as king, idol of the strange, exotic women of the quarter, commander of the men, and beloved by everyone for his handsome, smiling face and high, adventurous heart.

Sigrid Gurie, who made a triumphant film debut in "The Adventures of Marco Polo," is seen as Ines, his beautiful and wildly jealous native sweetheart.

Then one day there strolls into the Casbah, a beautiful Parisian tourist, named Gabby—played by the alluring Viennese actress, Hedy Lamarr.

This is the day for which Silimane, suave provincial detective, has been patiently waiting. For he knows that if nothing else can lure the great lover out of the Casbah and into the hands of the law, perhaps a woman can.

Pepe and Gabby fall madly in love and after a series of exciting and romantic adventures, in the course of which the jealous native sweetheart betrays Pepe to the police, the story ends on a breathtaking surprise climax.

Joseph Calleia plays the detective, Silimane, while others prominently featured in the cast are Alan Hale, Gene Lockhart and Mme. Nina Koshetz.

Special Algerian scenes were actually photographed in the city of Algiers by Lloyd Knechtel.

The second feature on this program is "Flight to Fame," starring Charles Farrell and Jacqueline Wells. Farrell plays a daredevil army pilot, tracing a mysterious "death ray" gun which destroys planes in full flight.

Farrell and Miss Wells are superb, as are the others in the film's excellent cast. In addition to Hugh Southern, the somewhat eccentric father of Miss Wells, Jason Robards, Alexander D'Arcy and Frederick Burton play supporting roles.

IN 'SONS OF THE LEGION' CAST

"Sons of the Legion" with Lynne Overman, Tim Holt, Billy Lee, and many others in the cast comes to the Rio Theater starting next Friday. Its local showing is under the sponsorship of the Sons of the American Legion, Oney Johnson Post No. 38.

Featured on the same program is "The Sisters." Based on Myron Brinig's great story, the picture stars Errol Flynn and Bette Davis. The huge cast includes Anita Louise, Ian Hunter, Donald Crisp, and Dick Foran.

It Is Said--

That the Menasha High school football squad's new sideline jackets received a thorough initiation at the Menasha-New London game Friday night which was played in a continuous rain. The new jackets are full length, waterproof material with hoods. The jackets are a deep blue with a silver bluejays in a circle on the back. Spectators at the game thought it was fortunate for some of them were prepared for the rain. Some huddled under blankets, others held papers over their heads while a number of youngsters crawled under the stands and watched the game while lying flat on their stomachs under the front row of seats. Referee William Pickett of Appleton carried a towel and wiped the ball off between each play. Even so there were about 10 fumbles in the game.

Beatrice Staniak Wins 547 Series In Marathon Loop

Neenah—Beatrice Staniak rolled a 547 series on games of 176, 166 and 205 to top the Marathon Girls' Bowling league at Hendy alleys Thursday night. She surrendered high game honors to J. Zeliska who had a 220 count on 317 series.

Neenah Church to Observe Fiftieth Jubilee on Sunday

Rev. A. C. Haase Will be Trinity Lutheran Speaker

Neenah—The fiftieth anniversary of Trinity Lutheran church, Oak street, will be observed at three services Sunday. At the 9:15 German service and at the 10:30 English service Sunday morning the Rev. A. C. Haase, for over 30 years pastor of Trinity Lutheran church at St. Paul, Minn., will preach. The Rev. E. Behm, Town Forest, Wis., will preach in English at 7:30 Sunday night at the service which will complete observance of the building of the church. Sunday school will meet at 9:15 Sunday morning.

A song service by 123 voices, including 90 children of the school and 33 members of the senior choir, opened the observance Friday night. The song service was held just 50 years from the day when the church was dedicated. The theme of the jubilee service is "To God Alone the Glory." Special music will be offered at the services but the observance will be simple. In two years Trinity Lutheran church will observe the diamond jubilee anniversary of the organization of the congregation, according to the Rev. E. C. Reim, pastor.

"A Message to Men"

State 40 and 8 Head Discusses Convention

Neenah—Emil Wingard, state chief de game of the 40 and 8, attended a county meeting of the Winnago district at 8 at Hotel Menasha Thursday night. The chief discussed the 1939 state 40 and 8 convention which will be held next August at Oshkosh with the Winnago county vultures as the host. About 30 members attended the meeting.

Further plans for the all-day shoot, which will be held on Sunday, Oct. 30, at Waukau under the sponsorship of the 40 and 8 were discussed. Two expert shotgun and rifle men from the Western Cartridge company will attend the shoot and give a demonstration during the afternoon.

Plans for a "wreck" initiation ceremony of the 40 and 8 were made for the Nov. 14 meeting. The meeting place has not been decided upon.

REPORTS HOME WITKOWSKI

Neenah—Andrew Witekowski, 715 Appleton street, reported to Neenah police that some one entered his home Friday night but nothing was taken. The family returned from downtown about 7:30 last night and found both the rear and front doors of the home open.

Fraternity Club to Discuss Politics at Opening Meeting

Neenah—Opening its program with a timely discussion on politics, the Fraternity club of the First Methodist Episcopal church will hold eight meetings during the 1938-1939 season, it was announced today by Robert Ozzane, president. The program for the year also was released today.

The first meeting will be at 6:30 Tuesday evening at the Trinity Lutheran church with George Christofferson as program chairman. The topic will be "Our Political Parties and National and State Problems." Dr. Bryce K. Ozzane will present the case of the Democratic party, while Mayhew Mott will present the case of the Progressive party, and Wilbur Sparks will present the case of the Republican party.

Each speaker will be allowed 10 minutes in which to present his case. The three talks will be followed by discussion of issues and problems presented, including the following two questions: "What are the future probabilities ahead of us due to our large and increasing national debt? What do the various parties offer in policies designed to stabilize society and business and what should be done to bring such stabilization about?"

Clarence Peterson will lead the group singing, and the supper committee will be composed of the following: Mrs. P. J. Bylow, chairman, Mrs. A. W. Johnson, Mrs. H. J. Lenz, Mrs. Ernest Greiner, Mrs. L. Pelton and Mrs. Arthur Harrison.

Debate, Discussion

The second program will be presented on Nov. 15, and Mayhew Mott will be program chairman. The Neenah High school debate team of which Mr. Ozzane is the coach will debate "Resolved that the United States should form an alliance with Great Britain." The debate will be followed by a general discussion. Mrs. Ernest Rhoades is supper chairman.

The program chairman and topic for discussion have not been selected for the Jan. 17 meeting of which Mrs. Huron Brien will be supper chairman.

Wants Nation to Avoid 'Spirit of Hysteria'
Beaver Dam — (P)—The United States should avoid any "spirit of hysteria or emotionalism" and stay completely clear of all foreign entanglements, Senator F. Ryan Duffy, Democratic candidate for reelection, said last night.

"The recent dynamite laden atmosphere when the peace of Europe trembled in the balance, should be sufficient warning that America's best policy is to remain free of the danger of foreign entanglements," Duffy warned.

"This has been the traditional American policy and it is the wisest to follow. This is a time for clear, safe thinking."

Donahue, Hastings are Frosh Representatives

James Donahue, Wisconsin Dells, and Alice Hastings, Kenosha, were elected freshman representatives to the Lawrence college student executive board yesterday by their classmates.

The election of the two frosh representatives brings the number of board members to 15, the figure set in the new student constitution adopted a year ago.

Girl Wins $3,500 for Roller Coaster Injury

Chicago—(P)—Miss Alice Lake, 21, of Indianapolis was awarded $3,500 damages yesterday in her circuit court suit against operators of the Riverview amusement park. A jury awarded the damages after Miss Lake testified she was injured July 20, 1937, when a roller coaster in which she was riding was struck in the rear by another coaster. She had asked $10,000 damages.

BLAST RIPS OUT JAIL WALL
Here's a portion of the northeast corner of the Muskegon county jail at Columbus, Ga., which was ripped out when a boiler exploded, injuring eleven prisoners and the jailer. A hole had to be cut in the cell grating to free prisoners. Eight of the 75 prisoners were unaccounted for.

Predict More Funds To Educate Industry In Arms Manufacture

Washington — (P)—Military men predicted today President Roosevelt's projected new defense measures would include an increase in expenditures to educate industry in the manufacture of munitions.

The first $2,000,000 provided by congress for that purpose has not yet been expended, but some officials favor speeding up the program, which is designed to gear industry more closely into the preparedness machine.

A recommendation that the present $10,000,000 five-year program be doubled or tripled has been considered in the study of national defense needs undertaken at Mr. Roosevelt's behest.

The funds would be spent on "educational orders" for certain arms and equipment needs in wartime, so that industry would have advance experience and the necessary tools for making them in event of war.

The orders are in line with Mr. Roosevelt's recent disclosure that the defense study included means of mass production of planes and other weapons and supplies.

Ekern in Attack Upon 'Progressives' Critics

Eau Claire — (P)—Complaints of the Progressive party's opponents will not stand examination, Lieutenant Governor Herman L. Ekern, Progressive nominee for senator, declared last night.

"The Republican candidate for governor," Ekern said, "is asserting that the Progressives are holding back developments of business. The fact is that under Governor La Follette business for the first time has an official spokesman in the Wisconsin Department of Commerce. This department already has demonstrated its worth by the leading part it played in the settlement of the Nash company dispute.

"In the matter of state aids, Governor La Follette's record makes those of his Democratic and Republican predecessors look pretty bad."

Farmer Depends Upon Industry, Wiley Says

Rhineland — (P)—"The Farmers' problems will not be permanently solved until industry in this country again hits its stride," Alexander Wiley, Republican United States nominee, declared last night.

"And this can be accomplished only by sending to Washington senators and congressmen who have constructive ideas to offer in place of the foot ones of the present administration."

The farmer depends on the home market for the sale of about 90 percent of his produce, Wiley said, adding that "if the pay envelope is thin there is no chance for the farmer to sell his products at a good price."

Girl Wins $3,500 for Roller Coaster Injury

Chicago—(P)—Miss Alice Lake, 21, of Indianapolis was awarded $3,500 damages yesterday in her circuit court suit against operators of the Riverview amusement park. A jury awarded the damages after Miss Lake testified she was injured July 20, 1937, when a roller coaster in which she was riding was struck in the rear by another coaster. She had asked $10,000 damages.

Amertoy Unrecognized

Registrations meant little to the toy amertoy, for this pure breed remains unrecognized. Will Ju-y, editor of Dog World, has drawn up a standard for this breed, which is published in his 1927 supplement of the Dog Encyclopedia, and is making a gallant fight to bring the dog to the attention of the dog loving public. The amertoy weighs 5 to 8 pounds, has bat ears, and must not be all white.

A breed which is all white however, was recognized by the A.K.C. during 1937. It is the big, shaggy looking komondor which hails from Hungary.

Homecoming Fete Held at Manawa

Snake Dance, Parade and Dance are Features Of Celebration

Manawa — The Pep club of Manawa High school sponsored the annual homecoming celebration in connection with the football game against Omro, Friday. On Thursday evening the parade through down town streets and across the campus attracted the attention of hundreds with torchlights, floats, music by the high school band, the snake dance, and other features. Different organizations, including the Pep club, G. A. A., Home Economics club, Future Farmers, and others, entered floats in the parade.

The huge bonfire on the campus wound up the program on the night preceding the football game. A dance was held for homecoming alumni, students, and friends of the school in the gymnasium, Friday evening. Members of the Homecoming committee working under Miss Ebert, faculty advisor, were: Dance — Marjorie Stevens and Lola Patton; snake dance — Ed Nolan and Marjorie Stevens; bonfire — Arnold Thomack and Corwin Randt; floats — Margaret Jensen and Eunice Fenske; decorations — Margaret Jensen, Eunice Fenske, Ed Nolan, and Lorraine Scheffeler.

Steek members were present at the last meeting of the Manawa Woman's club at the home of Miss Nell Golden. Three new members, Mrs. Ed Herman, Mrs. Chris Larson, and Mrs. Henry Heideman, joined the organization. Mrs. H. E. Shipman read a paper on the subject: "In Defense of the Jews." The Girl Scouts, under the direction of Mrs. Oscar Wohlrabe, conducted a model meeting at which they demonstrated their recent work. The next meeting of the club will be held at the grade school building, Thursday afternoon, Oct. 27.

The program to be presented by Miss Mary E. Hanna and a group from Stevens Point has been postponed to Nov. 10.

Heil Advocates Cut in Costs of Government

Green Bay — (P)—A return to "The main highway of acceptable, competent state government" was advocated by Julius P. Heil, Republican nominee for governor, in an address prepared for delivery over the radio here tonight.

"The signs which greet us now warn that we must stop, turn around and get back on that highway, which leads to lower cost of government and reduced taxes, promotion of private industry, through which will come increased employment and elimination of politics from the affairs of state government," Heil said.

"The vast army of 120,000 unemployed in Wisconsin see their chances for employment in private industry dimmed by government meddling."

"In line with unemployment, we find social security and old age assistance listlessly dealt with. . . . The state of Wisconsin never was so poorly governed as it is governed today."

Hearing of Extortion Charges Is Deferred

Milwaukee — (P)—An affidavit of prejudice for the second time delayed preliminary hearing of charges of attempted extortion against Walter Dews, 53, chief investigator for the state board of medical examiners, and Michael Wittenberg, an attorney.

The latest affidavit was filed yesterday by counsel for Wittenberg against Chief Judge Francis Jennings. Counsel for Dews previously filed an affidavit of prejudice against District Judge Harvey L. Neelen.

The case, pending since July 20, was ordered to a hearing next Monday by Judge Jennings.

Wittenberg and Dews are charged with attempting to extort $2,000 from Dr. Leland Trump of Milwaukee.

Dolores Stammer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Stammer, 1741 N. Superior street, submitted in an appendix Friday at St. Elizabeth hospital.

The Dog Owner and His Dog

Speaking of sporting dogs, it is interesting to note that a fine little representative of this group, the cocker spaniel, increased its lead substantially over the popular Boston terrier in the 1937 A. K. C. registrations, 15,110 to 9,400. The Scottie was third with 7,707, the fox terrier next with 6,322, and another sporting dog, popular with rabbit hunters throughout Wisconsin, held fifth position with a total of 4,390. Next to the beagle came the greyhound, most popular in racing circles, with 4,224 registered.

Seventh on the list came the pike, which lead the toys with a registration of 3,733, closely followed by the increasingly popular springer spaniel which showed a total of 3,222. The show remained among the first 10 with 2,837, and the dachshund with 2,769. Registered with American Field in Chicago were 3,611 pointers, 5,872 English setters, 1,650 Irish setters, and 464 for all other breeds.

Perhaps it is these larger breeds of dogs that make the dog food business one of the country's greatest industries. At any rate it is estimated that the quantity of a billion dollars per year is being spent on dogs, and about $600,000,000 of it is for upkeep alone. Dog food is now believed to be the largest selling item sold in cans, and helps to feed more than 15 million licensed dogs as well as another ten or twelve million not on record. At least 200,000 persons gain steady employment from the dog business.

Does it seem possible that our dog crop cost nearly as much as our wheat crop and three times more than our potato crop; and that we spent more on dogs than on higher education. And doesn't an average increase of about 1000 per cent per year, during the last few years, spent on dog advertising make old Fido seem pretty important?

'Dynasty of Death' Is Powerful Novel Done in Masterful Style

By Jean Wiley Thickens

"DYNASTY OF DEATH" by Taylor Caldwell. It is difficult in one brief review to do justice to a novel so broad in scope, so tremendous in power and so complex in plot as "Dynasty of Death" by Taylor Caldwell. The author's name is not a familiar one but his book has the technique, the finish and the literary style which justifies one's suspicions that Taylor Caldwell is merely a pseudonym for that of some well known and long established writer. There are almost 800 pages of rather fine print, but after the first few paragraphs the reader completely forgets his own identity and is submerged in the personality of the protagonist, Ernest Barbour.

"Dynasty of Death" is a study in abnormal psychology for Ernest Barbour's lust for power is truly pathological. His ruthlessness, his brutality, and his utter lack of moral scruples are terrible and almost awe inspiring. One sees in every spoken word, in every deed, in all his subtle scheming his passion for ruling the destinies of those about him even when that entails sacrificing the happiness of his parents, his wife—who adores him—and his four children who eventually learn to hate and fear him.

Family Chronicle

The story is a family chronicle of four generations. In the beginning there was an English and a French peasant who emigrated to this country with their families in the year 1837. This dynasty of Barbour and Bouchards is founded on the manufacture of armaments and munitions and had its humble birth in a modest gun-powder factory in Pennsylvania which was started by the first Barbour emigrant in 1839 with a secret formula which he had concocted himself, while still a servant on a large estate in England. Two generations, under the guidance of the subtle, far-seeing and indomitable Ernest, the firm has spread its hideous tentacles to every country of Europe and Asia, planting international suspicions and hatreds, fomenting wars and fattening on the blood of the simple folk who followed the guidance of his subsidized newspapers to prey on weaker nations.

During the Mexican war, Franco-Prussian war, Civil war, Boer war, and the Spanish-American imbroglio, Barbour-Bouchard Co. sold munitions and armaments to both sides service with sermon, "The Cornerstone of Civilization."

At 3 o'clock Monday afternoon the Herald group of Crusaders, led by Mrs. K. Shambauer, will meet. At 7 o'clock in the evening the Junior Baptist Young People's union, led by Grace Nagreen, will meet.

The annual chicken dinner will be served Wednesday by the Baptist Ladies Aid society in the community hall on Main street.

INJURIES PROVE FATAL

Beloit — (P)—Funeral services will be held tomorrow for Dr. Fred Chesbro, 62, Delavan veterinarian who died yesterday of injuries suffered Oct. 15 when his automobile struck the rear of a bus which had stopped near Clinton to pick up a passenger.

UNCLE RAY'S CORNER

A Little Saturday Talk

Last month a Toronto newspaper carried a news item which read:

"A polar bear, shot with a bow and arrow, is the game which 14-year-old Lester Essig, Jr., is carrying home today to Chicago. He passed through Toronto yesterday with his father. The polar bear skin will be mounted, and the skeleton will be wired together and presented to the Lane Technical high school, Chicago, where young Essig is a pupil. He will start for the school a museum of natural history."

Lester is a reader of our department, and has sent me a long and interesting account of his trip to the northlands.

"I have been hunting with dad for five years," he writes, "we made a trip to Alaska two years ago for big game, and brought back a full bag. The past summer we set out for James Bay, at the southern end of Hudson Bay, and I hoped to bring back a polar bear trophy."

"The trophy, if obtained, was to be given to Lane Technical high school. We had trouble obtaining the permit, because the Eskimos depend on polar bears for food during the winter, but at last it was granted."

The Hudson's Bay company fixed things up for us, and had a 50-foot sailboat waiting. It was called the "Joy II" and had two masts, a jib sail and engine. Besides the skipper, the engineer, and the jolly cook, there were three half-breed Cree Indians as members of the crew.

"On the second day, an Eskimo pilot named Wetalak came on board. He is known as one of the finest hunters in the Arctic."

"On the fifth day, we were sailing around North Twin island. The weather was nice and we were taking it easy. Suddenly dad shouted, 'Nanook!' and that brought us to our feet. Everyone got so excited we couldn't think for a moment."

"Dad dashed down the hatch for the movie camera. Since the guns were in the hold, I grabbed my bow and arrow... which were handy. The boat was headed the wrong way, and we were all confused, but in a few seconds things were straightened out, and we were going full speed after the bear."

"When we came within 75 feet of the polar bear, I took aim and the arrow hit him in the left flank. He thrashed the water, and dove, but came up again. I took a second shot, and the arrow struck him in the right shoulder."

"I climbed farther out on the boat, and tried to time the rolling of the boat with the diving of the bear. I aimed carefully and let the arrow fly. The bear let out a roar, and doubled up. Wetalak yelled, 'Eh-be-te tu-ku-luk-mawuk,' meaning 'You killed the white bear!'"

Next Saturday I plan to publish the rest of this letter. It tells more about the bear, also about Lester's visit at an Eskimo village.

Packers at Home Last Time Sunday

Oppose Johnny Blood's Pittsburgh Pirate Aggregation

WHITE WITH PITT

Whizzer Is Leading Ground Gainer With Pro League

GREEN BAY — The name of Johnny Blood will ring around City stadium here again Sunday, but the setup will be changed from the days he stepped out to help spark Packer teams to football championships.

Johnny will be leading the opposition this time. When the contesting teams step out on the gridiron at 2 p. m., John's will be the Pittsburgh Pirates, out to regain prestige that received some severe bumps when injuries kept the players off victory trail. After two weeks' rest which enabled the coaches to repatch the squad to full strength, the Pirates will be tougher than ever, and there is no game that Blood would rather win than this one.

White Stellar Back

Built around the sensational Whizzer White, Rhodes scholar from Colorado, Blood's team is determined to match the Packers' great offense. Besides Johnny himself, who has expressed determination to play 60 minutes, White will get backfield support from Tommy Tommerson of Wisconsin, Max Fiske of De Paul, Stu Smith of Bucknell, Tuffy Thompson of Minnesota, Bill Davidson of Temple, and John Douglas of Kansas State.

Against this aggregation Coach Lambau will present one of the strongest offensive teams that ever represented Green Bay, and it is nearing its peak. The game will be the last home appearance of the Packers this season, and the boys are set to make it a real show. Twice defeated on the home lot (by Detroit and the Chicago Bears), Packer players plan to answer those fans who are skeptical about the effectiveness of their attack.

The lineup:

Green Bay	Hutson
Center	O. Miller
Right Tackle	Butler
Right End	Lee
Quarterback	C. Mulleneaux
Fullback	Hinkle
Linebacker	Jankowski
Defensive Back	Welsberger

Appleton and East Rained Out; Will Try Again Tonight

Appleton High school footballers and Green Bay East were washed out of their game at City Stadium, Green Bay, last night. The squads were ready to go but the sky was pouring water so fast that officials of the schools decided on a postponement to tonight.

In the only conference game played last night, Green Bay West ran over Fond du Lac by a 20 to 0 score for its fourth straight conference win. West and East are tied for first place in the standings.

Reds at Sheboygan Sunday; Chuters At Merrill Tonight

Appleton Team Shaken Up After Failure to Score Last Week

APPLETON Reds, semi-pro football team, will take to the highways tomorrow and tangle with Sheboygan there in the afternoon. The Reds have been shaken up a bit during the last week after being held scoreless by Clintonville, and indications are they'll do better Sunday.

The Reds were on the 1-yard line, 11-yard line, 21-yard line and the 5-yard line last Sunday and failed to count. Several new men have reported and Coach Palmbach has indicated he'll use them and let some of the regulars enjoy bench duty.

The Reds will leave from Jones park at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning.

DUCHMEN TO MERRILL

Little Chute—The Flying Dutchman football team will be at Merrill this evening battling the Fromm Foxes. The Foxes defeated Clintonville twice and split with Chippewa. The Dutchmen have three straight wins to their credit.

Every member of the Chuter squad will be in uniform tonight except Fritz Block. He ruptured a blood vessel and it may result in more serious injury if he continues to play. Al Boots, star fullback, will be in the Chuter lineup again tonight as will Johnny Block, end.

Members of the squad making the trip are: H. Van Dyke, John Block, George Wassengen, Les Helf, George Hartjes, coach, Joe Versteegen, Al Boots, J. Clark, M. Hartjes, J. Maas, and L. Lamers.

Linemen: H. Wynboom, M. Boots, N. Jansen, Porky Porath, D. De Bruin, P. Van Langfelt, H. Van Langfelt, G. Van Grinsven, A. Hernes and B. Lenz.

St. John Highs Play Tomorrow

Little Chute Team at Home to St. Norbert Of W. DePere

Little Chute—The Green Knights of St. Norbert High school, West DePere, will clash with St. John High schoolers here Sunday afternoon in a Valley Catholic conference game.

So far the invaders have won only one game. They beat Green Bay West High reserves, 6 to 0, and then lost to East reserves and St. Mary of Menasha.

The Chuters looked good last Sunday against St. Mary of Menasha but have let down since. Some of the boys have missed practices and indications are they'll be benched for their misdemeanors.

The probable lineup for St. John will have DeBruin and Dercks, ends, Schumaker and Van Bostel, tackles, Jansen and Simons, guards, Van Grinsven, center, Lamer, quarterback, Hurst and McCabe, halves and Hartjes, full.

It has been announced that the washed out game with St. Catherine's of Racine will be played Nov. 13 at Little Chute.

Platteville Upsets Milwaukee Teachers

Platteville (4)—Platteville State Teachers took undisputed lead of the southern section of the Wisconsin Teachers college football conference last night by defeating Milwaukee Teachers, 7 to 0.

The touchdown came in the second quarter. A pass from Perkins, Platteville fullback, to MacAllister put the ball on Milwaukee's 8-yard line. Sheehan plunged for the touchdown. Perkins converted the point.

thing away from Fritz Crister, don't forget Harry Kipke—pre-dicted his 1937 team—that was the year before he got the old heavy-ho—would drop four games (which it did) and that his 1938 outfit would be a darned good one. . . .

Today's football results: The Yales, have had their timing for the season and should bow to the Michiganans. You can write your own ticket on Georgia Tech and Auburn. . . . Omro Whips Manawa by Intercepting a Pass

Manawa—A pass interception on Manawa's 20 yard line followed by a 67-yard run by Right Halfback Peterson paved the way for a fourth quarter touchdown that ruined Manawa's homecoming. Manawa played inspired ball, made 13 first downs to 3 for the victors. Pet was unable to dent the Omro defense when in touchdown territory. Manawa threatened in the third quarter when a recovered fumble gave it the ball on Omro's 11-yard line. Doll, the scorer, and Bieber of Omro played well, while Geirke, Manawa halfback, turned in the finest performance on the field.

WARD seared the drives with a 278 game as Chicago collected high team scores of 1,079 and 2,993 during Big Ten league matches at Elks alleys last night. Ward carries a 9-pin handicap. A. A. Gritzmacher bagged individual series honors with a big 655 series.

Despite the high team scores, Chicago dropped one game to Purdue. Ward spearheaded the Chicago attack with his blistering 278 game, a 212 game and a 645 series while G. Mignon was not far behind with games of 215 and 253 for a 638 count. H. Brock smashed 227 and E. Koerner showed 214. Zschachner panned 200 and 221 for a 607 series. Koch grooved 220 and Bauer scored 208 for the losers.

Illinois made it three straight over Minnesota as J. From tallied a 619 total on two games of 227 and Loggren socked 202. S. Balliet cracked a 221 game and 602 series and C. Van Able bagged an even 200 for the losing quints.

Win Three Games
Northwestern polished off Michigan in three games to gain a first place tie with Illinois. A. Gritzmacher went to town with games of 218, 235 and 202 for his 655 total. Johnston smashed 222 and 200, Gehring thumped 215 and Jacobson counted 203 for the victors. Steffen showed 551 and a 203 game and Plaman had 204 for Michigan.

Two games were credited to Wisconsin in a tilt with Indiana. High for the winners was O. Kunitz with a 589 total and 202 game while W. Schultz blasted games of 215 and 210 and W. Frises came through with 201 and N. Weber added a 218 game. Schabo paced the losers with a 638 series on games of 233 and 210. Horn kegled 221 and Graef bagged 201.

Ohio won the odd game from Iowa as Purdy steamed a 610 series on games of 201 and 212. Buskey spilled a 214 game and Gresenz rolled 213. Bulen topped the losers with games of 224 and 201 for a 574 series and Schneider cracked 200.

BEANS AS CAMPFIRE

O. Warren Smith
YOU don't know beans until you have had them cooked in a good old fashioned bean-hole. In a permanent camp you should have a bean-hole. Even the best from Boston don't have the palate-pleasing flavor of a batch browned in a bean-hole. They aren't hard to bake, either, just a little care in preparation, a little good luck in cooking. You'll get them right the first time if you follow this plan.

Find a spot for your bean-hole where the soil is dry, sandy loam, as that's the proper ground for your culinary setting. If your pot or kettle is to produce the kind mother wished she could make. Dig a broad, deep hole. Fill the hole with plenty of kindling and start your fire. Keep piling on wood until you have created a deep bed of hot coals. A good baking will reward you by bringing out the finest flavor. To get everything right is as important as placing your tent correctly. You can do without sleep but not without a good bean-hole.

Iron Kettle the Best
You'll need a kettle large enough to take care of the number in your party. An earthen jar can be used but is likely to break or crack, so an iron kettle is far more practical. An old style "Dutch Oven" with an over-lapping cover to keep out the ashes will fill the bill if you can get hold of such a prize.

Now you are ready for the beans. Soak them over night until they have swollen twice their original size. Sometimes it helps to boil the beans before baking, throwing away two or three waters. To cook from just soaked beans, a longer time is needed. For best results, soak for 5 days. Fumblers—Menasha, 4, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Marion Highs Bow To Pulaski, 6-0

Blocked Punt Leads to Poles' Touchdown In Third Period

Marion—The Marion High school football team journeyed to Pulaski Friday afternoon and met defeat by the Pulaski highs by a score of 6 to 0.

Pulaski kicked off to Marion and the ball was returned to the 20-yard line. Two line plays and an offside penalty gave Marion a first down on the 25. Marion could not gain and punted to Pulaski. The ball was returned to midfield after which Pulaski had the ball in Marion's territory. The first quarter ended with the ball in Pulaski's possession on the 25-yard line.

In the second quarter, after an exchange of punts, Pulaski completed two first downs and worked the ball to Marion's 18-yard stripe and on three tries at the line netted 6 yards. A try for a field goal was low. Marion punted to Pulaski's 35, and had the ball at mid-field as the half ended.

Marion kicked off to Pulaski, the ball being returned to their 40. Pulaski made two first downs, then punted to Marion's 15.

Pulaski Scores
Pulaski made a first down on Marion's 3. After two line smashes netted a loss of 4 yards, Pulaski passed into the end zone for a touchdown. The placekick for extra point was wide.

Pulaski kicked and Marion returned the ball to Marion's 40. They could not gain so punted to Pulaski's 30. Pulaski completed a pass good for 20 yards. Marion held. Pulaski's punt was blocked, Marion getting the ball on the 50 yard line.

On the first play, Marion fumbled and the ball was recovered by Pulaski which after making a first down, lost the ball on downs.

In the fourth quarter Marion was pitching the ball to all corners of the gridiron to try to overcome the six points but Pulaski was alert and would reel off a first down and then punt. Marion had the ball on Pulaski's 14-yard line in the fourth quarter, the nearest it came to scoring.

bled in the end zone. He fell on the ball to give the Bluejays a safety.

Following the safety, New London kicked off from the 20 yard line. O'Brien made a nice return to the New London 39. When plays failed to gain, Jack Grode punted out on the New London 11. New London was forced to punt back and Grode booted the ball to the New London 12. Menasha was penalized 15 yards for interfering with the receiver. Three New London passes failed and Poepe got off a long punt with the wind to DuCharme who twisted his way back to the Menasha 39.

Ken DuCharme then got away on the longest run of the game. He headed through the line with the assistance of some hard blocking and carried the ball 47 yards to the New London 11 before Poepe, the safety man, stopped him.

Coach N. A. Calder sent the reserves in then. Nantke went nine yards on the first play but the reserves lost that much in the next three plays. New London took the ball over on its own 11 yard line but the game ended before they could run a play.

Martin and Mudcats Find The Stage a Tough Racket

BY HAROLD HARRISON
INDIANAPOLIS (AP)—Pull up chairs, boys, and listen to the story of how "Old" Pepper Martin and his musical mudcats of the National Baseball League found the stage a tough racket.

"The spotlight was thrown on 'The Ripper' who introduced Pepper and the rest of the band. They pulled some gags too.

"Say, Rip," one of them asked, "what was your greatest world series thriller?"

"Why, Collins replied, 'I got my greatest thrill today.'

"Today? How come?"

"I just got my check," Rip replied.

After stumbling over numerous spellings, ropes and back stage paraphernalia, I found the boys after they had staggered off the stage.

"It's Tough"—Pepper

"Boy, that's tough," said the "Wild Horse of the Osage" Martin. "In baseball you know when you're doing all right. When you make a hit, you know you've done the right thing, but out there on that stage, you never know."

"How come you guys got tangled up in this racket?" I asked.

"Well, we just decided to do it so we signed a contract not to play anywhere but in theatres," the Pepper replied as a line of chorus girls flitted by.

"You know, I believe it would be better if we'd just step out and take a bow when Rip introduces us instead of playing a bar on the 'git-tar' he added.

"Boy, I don't think I'll ever get up to this."

"Aw, don't let it get you," an old troupier retorted. "The folks out there are paying to see you boys. They don't care whether you're actors or not."

The band is booked for five weeks after the stay here.

"I don't believe we'll be able to stand anymore than that," Pepper said.

Joseph Hantschel walked off with individual game honors on a 263 count.

Princeton fell before the 3-game onslaught of Pennsylvania. Close behind Collipp was Harrington with games of 234, 202 and 230 for a 666 series. Baker pounded a 221 g.m.e. Blyth tallied 217 and Rottger cracked 209. William Feavel was high for the losers with a 215 game and 560 series.

Harvard grand slammed Notre Dame as Schmidt rattled a 618 series on games of 211 and 231 and Heineman smashed 504 on games of 210 and 210. John Hantschel was high for the losers with a 577 series and Jones showed a 201 game.

Pittsburgh won the odd game from Fordham with DeBauer cracking a 635 series on games of 231 and 238 and Joyce counting 217. Borschell paced the losing quint with games of 216 and 207 for a 621 series. Schrage thumped 240 and Gabbert grooved 212.

Two games were credited to Columbia in a match with Army. Corcoran showed a 559 series and 214 game and Lawlor bowled 219 for the winning while E. Schitz kegled 562 and a 202 game. J. Vogt had 200 and L. Watson showed 201 for the losers.

Navy won two games from Yale as Joseph Hantschel rattled a 636 series on games of 220 and 263 and L. Feavel backed him up with a 609 total on games of 201, 204 and 204. Holmes was tops for the losers with games of 209 and 253 for a 642 series while Arthur uncorked a 222 game.

Nineteen Fillies Go To Post at Laurel, Md.

Laurel, Md. (AP)—Practically all of the good two-year-old fillies in Maryland—nineteen of them to be exact—were scheduled to go to the post today in the 13th running of the $10,000 added Selma stakes, Maryland's richest race for juvenile fillies.

The winner of the race last year, Edward Friendly's Jacola, was due to appear as favorite in the $7,500 Maryland handicap.

Although they were assigned top weights of 122 pounds each for the one-mile test, Mrs. Ethel V. Mars' Dinner Date and Henry Lustig's Donita M. were expected to be among the favorites in the Selma at post time.

Pegler Tells of 1-Day Open Season to Get Sunday Drivers

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER
New York—I forgot to tell you about the hunting last Sunday, the first day of legal shooting of Sunday drivers. After all these years of protection the game was plentiful along practically all the roads, and the highway police, who were in considerable numbers, interfered only to settle disputes such as the time when I got a fine for backing up the net of creeping at the head of a long line of cars on a narrow, winding road, and another hunter-er claimed him.

It was a close decision, and I couldn't blame the other sportsman for wanting credit for the kill, considering that we fired almost simultaneously, but the trooper decided from the direction of the bullet that the honor belonged to me, and the other claimant very courteously offered his hand and his congratulations, saying, "I had had my eye on that creeper for years, and I suppose I was overanxious."

"He wrecked a friend of mine on a curve near here one Sunday several years ago. My friend was trying to go somewhere on an important errand, and this creeper was poking along, blocking traffic with at least 20 cars behind him, all leap-frogging and taking desperate chances against the oncoming traffic in the effort to get free of him."

"Finally my friend reached a position just behind him and made several efforts to honk him over and pass him. But when my friend would lean out the window and snarl the way they do, and when he would try to pass the creeper would step on it until they would come to another hill or curve, where he would be forced to fall back."

"After nine miles of this my friend took a desperate chance on a curve, met another car and was wrecked. His back was broken, his wife's face was terribly mutilated by flying glass and two persons in the oncoming car were badly hurt."

"So, naturally, you see, I figured him to be my creeper, for I had been watching him many Sundays since then, always longing for the day when they would lift the law. However, the pleasure is almost as great as though I had got him myself. You deserve all credit, but I know you will permit me to share the satisfaction with you."

There was a lull in luck for some time after that, although others out for the sport were accumulating good bags of creepers. But along toward noon there came a fine specimen, steering with his right hand and with his left hand out the window holding out the roof of his car.

Non-Signaler Nearly Drives Pegler In Ditch
This one was not a creeper but a non-signaler, and I blew him through when he came to a turn-off and swung far over to the left side of the road to make a right-hand turn, too lazy to use a right-hand signal. As he swung left I naturally thought that he was turning left and started to pass on his right, so when he turned right without dropping speed he forced me toward the ditch.

It was then that I let him have it, and a trooper who came up a minute later said admiringly: "You ought to enter him for the prize. I saw it all, and he is one of the finest specimens of that particular type of car that I ever saw. I would like to have had him for myself, but we troopers are not allowed to take part in the sport. If we were I am afraid there would be no game left after a few hours."

Another hunter got an interesting specimen, a buck riding along, wabbling all over a busy highway at about 20 miles an hour, with his right arm around a doe, who was almost in his lap. This one would take his left hand off the steering wheel now and again to remove a cigar from his face to shake off the ash, and there were half a dozen hunters strung out behind him, all anxious to make the kill.

Spirit of Hunters Was Magnificent Throughout
The one who got him was in an oncoming car in the other lane. He sized up the situation in a quick glance and knocked off the game right under the very eyes of those who were edging along in pursuit, but there was no rancor whatever.

They all got out and congratulated the lucky sportsman. The spirit of the hunters was magnificent throughout.

There were a few speeders in the bag, but not many, for the game around here consists more of creepers on the narrow roads, one-handed and non-signalers. The latter happen to be very scarce these days, were almost exterminated, but, of course, not all of them were out, and there is no reason to fear that there will be any lack of sport on the annual open Sunday for legal shooting next fall. A few drunks were bagged, but not many.

There has been some protest over the "laughter," as some people call it, but that was all settled in advance when it was pointed out that such drivers themselves cause terrible slaughter on the highways all year long and that it was in the interests of humanity to reduce their numbers by one day's legal shooting every year.

Steels were next to the airplane group in popularity. Motors followed more leisurely. A few rails and rubbers attracted followings. Utilities tended to a somewhat restricted range.

Optimism seemed to have received fresh stimulation by the action of Douglas Aircraft directors, after yesterday's close, in voting a $3 dividend, the first since September, 1935, when 75 cents was declared. The company also announced 9 months' net earnings of $3.19 a share the best in its history, against $1.49 in the comparable 1937 months.

Prominent on the climb, beside Douglas Aircraft, were United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, United States Steel, Bethlehem Steel, General Motors, United States Rubber, Goodyear, Sears Roebuck, Montgomery Ward,

Week-end Digest of Business Activity In Appleton and Vicinity

Urge Student Band Members to Use Bieritz Services

Martin Handcraft Dealer Has Modern Repair Department

With schools everywhere now in full operation and band activities resumed, student band members of the Fox River Valley are urged to give special attention to the wide diversified list of factory method servicing of instruments which the Bieritz Musical Instrument Repair Service features. Considerable saving in time and money is made possible, the Bieritz firm explains, through taking advantage of its factory method repair service without sacrificing in any way the quality of the work.

Every effort is made by the Bieritz firm to secure latest equipment for its repair work to assure modern methods, making possible exacting and time-saving jobs, thereby guaranteeing quality repairs at lowest possible cost. Since its location in its new and larger headquarters at 223 N. Appleton street, better application of its factory repair system is made possible.

It isn't too early, this firm believes, to point out the fact that nothing else so aptly can express your interest in your children or friends or relatives' children at Christmastime than by giving them a gift filled with practicableness and lasting enjoyment. You will agree that perhaps no other gift may boast these features more than a good musical instrument. Stimulating personal pride and encouraging youthful musical taste and natural ability, it ranks at the head of the list as an ideal Christmas gift which will be appreciated more and more as the years go by.

Exclusive Fox River Valley agency of the famous Martin and Indiana line of band instruments is held by the Bieritz firm. Both types are built by hand, a feature recognized throughout the country as being a superior method of construction since these two lines of instruments are the only ones built by hand in this country.

Made by Hand
There is a great difference between handcraft and machine production, the Bieritz firm explains. Martin "handcraft" instruments are built by hand and all of the employees of this firm are salaried day workers. This method, you will agree, results in more careful workmanship than if the instruments were hurriedly punched out by machine on a piece work basis of compensation.

Dollar for dollar either line of the Martin instruments, Martin or Indiana, offers greater value because of their handcraft qualities, giving infinitely more playing satisfaction to its owners. In spite of the extra care in construction, the prices of these handcraft instruments compare favorably with most any of the quality line of instrument which is manufactured on a quantity machine basis rather than by hand.

All instruments purchased from the Bieritz firm are sold under easy-payment plan, if desired, with liberal trade-in allowances for old instruments.

Railways of Ireland have laid off many hands recently because of falling business, and the unemployment and railway problems of the country threaten to become serious.

VAN ZEELAND PRESENTS NEW MUSIC SENSATION

Here at last is a chance to play the sensational instrument, the "Tonette"; a small pocket size instrument for kids from six to sixty. Now every man, woman, and child can not only own one of these instruments but learn to play it as well; because it is being sold at a price every one can afford to pay.

The Van Zeeland Music Company realizes that even a cheap instrument is expensive unless the buyer can learn to play it correctly so they are making it possible to learn to play the "Tonette" through a new method with personal instruction given by one of the Van Zeeland teachers. This should be of special interest to the business man who has no time to practice—the housewife who would enjoy musical diversion—the office girl who wants to be the life of the party—and the child who can not afford a large instrument and a long course of lessons.

Folks marvel at its simplicity and entertainment value. You can join in the fun of the nation with a new "Tonette." See the ad elsewhere on this page for Van Zeeland's special offer.

Don't Marry The Man

peated. "Do you believe in hate at first sight?"
MacDonald sobered instantly. The blue of his eyes turned to black. "Why yes," he returned evenly. "I believe I do." He wheeled and strode away.
Kathleen went swiftly down the dirt trail towards neutrality. So this was the man upon whom she was to have an ameliorating effect.

High School Play At Manawa Oct. 27

'The Lone Eagle' Will be Presented in Gymnasium
Manawa—The annual all-school play of Manawa High school, "The Lone Eagle," by Charles E. Roach, will be presented in the gymnasium next Thursday evening. The plot of the play concerns the trials and adventures of a mechanically-minded boy, from the closing days of his senior year in high school to his triumph in an attempted solo flight across the Atlantic. The story parallels the life of Lindbergh. The parts of Hilda, the maid (played by John Patton), Mrs. Holmes, a domineering woman (played by Geraldine Hill), and Robert, the musically-minded brother of the hero (played by Floyd Esche), are especially humorous. Lois Bauer plays the part of Mrs. Brown, who objects to all of Jim's (Bill Sebald) adventures, seeing the danger in everything he does. Jim has a staunch ally in his father (Lloyd Lathrop) who aids him in his mechanical hobbies.

The feminine roles played by Jeanette Rich and Velda Handrich show much contrast in characterization. Margaret Jensen plays the part of a young newspaper woman who isn't adverse to using a clever trick in order to get the story she wants. Gordon Barrington takes the part of an aviator friend of Jim. The radio announcer is Clyde Barrington, and Keith Gehrke takes the part of the mayor of Big Rapids. Sound effects provide a background for the "epic of America." Bruce Brown and John Seffern, Jr., are in charge of sound and stage effects. The play is under the direction of Earl Carl Koeh, assisted by Miss Mabel Pitts.

Card Party Is Given At Rebekah Meeting
Shiocton — Members of the Rebekah lodge conducted their second meeting of the month at the Odd Fellow hall Thursday evening. The entertainment committee included M. L. Mattie Booth, chairman, Mrs. Alice Petersen, Mrs. Grace Town, Mrs. Mildred Masterson, Miss Clara Fisher and R. D. Fisher. Following the business session cards and dominoes furnished the amusement.
High score at schafkopf was awarded to Mrs. Tressa Allender and low to Mrs. Celia Oaks; at five hundred, Mrs. Laura Kaufman, high, and Mrs. Marie Twitchell, low, at dominoes Mrs. Gertrude Black was awarded high and Mrs. Elsie Berzill, low.
Mr. and Mrs. Charles Masterson have moved from rooms in the Sankuy building into rooms in the Sankuy building, formerly occupied by Eugene Feuerfeld and family.
Mr. Masterson, who has conducted a furniture and undertaking establishment in Shiocton for a number of years recently disposed of his stock and business to R. G. Sawyer, Shiocton. Mr. and Mrs. Sawyer moved this week from their residence into the rooms above the furniture store, vacated by the Mastersons.
Mrs. A. V. Dreier and son Donald of Wabeno are guests this week at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. A. Steloff, and other relatives in the village Wednesday evening. Mrs. Donald Andrews entertained a few guests at her home in honor of her sister, Mrs. Dreier's birthday anniversary.
Mrs. Orlo Valentine is spending the week at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Gerald Krueger, at Hartford.

Coolerator Aids Other Purchases Through Savings

Lutz Company Also Offers Complete Line of Quality Fuels

A new washing machine, electric iron, vacuum cleaner, radio, or new furniture are very desirable additions to any household. These are things which can be yours for the money saved in buying an air-conditioned refrigerator, the Coolerator. These savings are possible in making this purchase because it comes in one big lump sum when you make it as well as the daily savings you make because of less food spoilage and better air-conditioned refrigeration.

A new Coolerator, you will agree is a most practical and welcome gift suggestion for you and your family. The Lutz Ice Company, Coolerator dealers, not only invites you to enjoy modern refrigeration this Christmas in the form of a new Coolerator but also makes a most attractive offer of free ice until March 1, 1939 in addition to a 10 day free trial plan.
Many customers have already taken advantage of this unusual proposition and are agreed that it is a most liberal offer which the Lutz firm is making. Already over 500,000 families throughout the country are enjoying the many extra advantages of the air-conditioned Coolerator. You can join them, too, the Lutz firm reminds, if you wish and the price you pay is about 100 dollars less than you would expect to pay for such a modern, attractive-looking refrigerator.

Try In Home
By-trying a model in your home, you can experience for yourself how the Coolerator uses ice in a totally different way, how its patented air-conditioned chamber makes food taste better and last longer and how you can get plenty of ice cubes in five minutes or less. What is more, these are better cubes because each one is crystal clear, taste free, and hard frozen. Again, the Lutz firm reminds home owners that the time of year is here once more when cold weather literally is knocking at your door. Daily this firm is supplying quality cool coke, and the popular fuel of the future, packaged Pocahontas, to people who wish to make certain of guaranteed heating satisfaction and comfort this winter.

For high quality fuel, pure manufactured ice or a 10-day free trial of a new Coolerator with free ice until March 1, 1939, upon purchase, you need only phone 2, the Lutz Ice Company.

Smoke Tinges Sunsets
Smoke from extensive forest fires along the Russian border is producing glorious sunsets throughout Europe. It drifted across Scandinavia and charred the air with heavy dust particles, causing brilliant twilight glows and lunar halos which have been seen as far south as London.
